

PLAGUE TERROR GRIPS RUSSIA

CHICAGO MADE A NEW MECCA BY PIER SHOW

Army of Visitors Views Exhibits.

Turkles guarding entrance to the Municipal pier clicked industriously yesterday right up to the closing hour at night, as more than 150,000 persons responded to the lure of the Pageant of Progress.

The great exposition drew as its second day visitors not only the home guard of Sunday recreationists but also an army of out-of-town sightseers who trooped in from nearby towns and cities. Every incoming train brought a quota. And hundreds motored in.

The three miles of pier exhibits, representing the greatest industrial and commercial display assembled in Chicago since the world's fair, naturally claimed first attention. There are more than 2,000 individual showings, valued at more than $3,000,000. This appraisal does not include the exhibits of historical interest, many of which could not be purchased at any price.

Entertainment Features Galore.

But the Pageant of Progress exposition, the daily programs thus far have proved, is even more than a pretentious industrial show. The entertainment attractions are numerous and of high order.

From the entrances along the length of the 3,000 feet, Chicago's new $5,000,000 pier for the next two weeks will be a veritable haven for pilgrims of pleasure, lodging from the opening days. With only the time honored "peppercorn" admission, virtually all other features of more widely heralded exhibitions are in evidence.

The beginning of yesterday afternoon's program was the holding picnic. "Picnics of Progress," a pageant given in alliteration called the 1,000 birds released from cages near the pier.

At the booming signal of a cannon, the sky became overcast. The pigeons, all entered by Chicago fanciers, had taken wing and were headed for home lofts. Claims of record breaking flights were made in several instances, but these had not been officially checked up last night.

Champion Speed Boats Here.

Later in the afternoon, nineteen of thirty speed boats which will compete in races that start Thursday flocked into the harbor, the most graceful fleet of craft ever assembled there. The boats had been brought up the drainage canal from Peoria on barges.

Foremost among the speed boats was Miss America, of Detroit, the fastest water craft in the world. Miss Chicago, Arab IV, of Buffalo, Miss Toronto of Toronto, Vamp of Peoria, Miss Virginia of Pekin, Ill., Ethel IX of Hannibal, Mo., and Miss Madeline of Racine, Wis., are among the others that have been entered and are already in the harbor. The races will be held Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Women Hold Forum Session.

The Sunday program included much of special interest to women. Early in the afternoon there was a forum session, at which subjects relating to feminine activities were discussed. Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of Minneapolis, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, was among the speakers. There were several musical selections.

An exhibition of firefighting on the lake; the "million dollar fur show," with attractive models enhancing the beauty of rare creations; fireworks, band concerts, and the spectacular dive of Jack Turner, in flames, from the government tower marked the evening program.

EXHIBIT TO AID HEROES

"Willing to fight; anxious to work." The slogan has attracted thousands of visitors at the Pageant of Progress in the booth of Theodore Roosevelt post, No. 427, American Legion.

This post is showing an exhibit of war relics in connection with its readjustment campaign, by which it is seeking jobs for former service men. Employers are asked to pledge themselves to give former service men preference when filling positions. More than a score of firms signed up for the post during the first day of the pageant.

Under a sign reading "A bust for a buck to boost a buddy," the post members are selling busts of Theodore Roosevelt, all of the proceeds to go into the Theodore Roosevelt memorial fund and exclusively for the relief of unemployed and needy veterans.

SPURGIN BANK TO PAY 100 PCT., SAY ATTORNEYS

Report Institution to Be Reopened.

Depositors will not lose through the defalcations of Warren C. Spurgin, fugitive president of the Michigan Avenue Trust company, according to information received yesterday at the state attorney's office. The directors and stockholders have arranged to make good the shortage of Spurgin. It is said, pay all claims and to re-establish the bank by paying dollar for dollar.

The officials are financially able to make good the deficit, which may amount to as much as $1,500,000, according to assistant state attorneys handling the case. This move may avert the threatened indictment of the other officers of the bank for accepting deposits while knowing the bank to be insolvent.

All Liable Under Law.

Assistant State's Attorney James C. McShane has hinted at this action when he learned that several mortgages held by the bank were forgeries and consequently the bank had been insolvent for some time. The law, he said, takes the presumption that all officers are cognizant of a bank's condition and they are therefore liable even though they had no actual knowledge of Spurgin's peculations.

The bank's affairs are now in the hands of Receiver Hugh V. Keane, appointed by Judge David M. Broderick. Auditors for the state bank examiner are going over the books and a report is to be made today which will determine the exact amount of Spurgin's peculations.

W. C. Bruns, representing the adjusting firm of Toplis & Harding, and Chief Investigator Benjamin Newman of the state attorney's office conferred yesterday regarding recovery of the whereabouts of the missing bank president. They expressed the opinion they were on the right trail and that Spurgin would soon be in custody.

Believed in Mexico.

They have reliable information that points to Mexico as the present haven of Spurgin, with South America his ultimate goal. Spurgin would be practically safe from arrest and extradition in Mexico at present.

Through the story of Mrs. Marian Cuthbert Prentice, a divorcee living at 1411 East 50th street, who admits Spurgin taught her bookkeeping in the bank at night when he would not be disturbed, detectives learned of the Eurasian mine owned by Spurgin at Ouray, Colo. Authorities there disclosed that he was the possessor of a card from the Mexican government permitting him entrance to that country from El Paso without passport.

Seen in Alabama.

Spurgin, according to reports, appeared in Irvington, Ala., a village twenty miles from Mobile, three or four days after he left Chicago, and called there for mail, using the name of Pierson.

He also is reported to have inquired his way to Bishop Manor, a large dairy farm owned by Fred W. Bishop, 6840 Euclid avenue, Chicago. The Bishops were not at the farm and employees informed the authorities they had not seen any one of Spurgin's description.

The opportunities of jumping from Mobile to Mexico or South America are plentiful and detectives are checking with captains and sailors on the fishing ships which ply between Mobile and Campeche, Mexico, and queries have been sent to the captains of all the larger fruit vessels which have cleared recently for Honduras, Guatemala, Tampico and Vera Cruz.

Declares Capture Certain.

"It is just a matter of time until the capture of Spurgin," said Assistant State's Attorney James C. McShane. "He will be brought back soon and placed on trial at once on the indictments which charge him with misappropriating bank funds, the amount estimated at from $500,000 to $1,500,000, by speculating on his own behalf with the bank's money."

A BLUE RIBBON story in Sunday's Tribune

POISONING THE WELL

PASTOR BRANDS BLUE LAW CLAN AS BUSYBODIES

Mind Own Business, He Tells Wilmette.

"Keep your own house in order. Don't try to regulate your neighbor. What is wrong for you on Sunday might be all right for him. There has been too much blue law agitation."

It was the Rev. Harry L. Myers of Deatur speaking. He preached yesterday in the First Congregational church of Wilmette on the subject, "The Christian Use of Sunday."

Carefully did he garnish over the ultramarine restrictions of a strait-laced sabbath with the brighter hue of happiness. The congregation listened intently.

And This Is Wilmette.

Wilmette is considered one of the best conducted of north shore villages. Until the village board, under the presidency of Edward Ziff, repealed the anti-cigarette law a few months ago, the youths of the town were forced to make a surreptitious pilgrimage into Evanston to purchase smokes. By straw vote, the citizens recently voted down the proposal to reopen movie theaters on Sunday.

Recently the Rev. Henry Rapp, pastor of the Methodist church, created discussion when he told his congregation it was all right to play golf and baseball on the Sabbath if first they went to church. And the Baptist young men's Bible class meets weekly in Jones' hall, which is dedicated every Saturday night to the iniquitous jazz dance.

And now the Rev. Mr. Myers.

Every Man His Own Judge.

"There has been too much of a tendency to regulate the conduct of others," he said yesterday. "I will not give you a list of restrictions telling you what you may or may not do on Sunday. Persons of intelligence should be qualified to decide for themselves what is right or wrong, and should observe the Sabbath according to their consciences."

English Girl Plans to Salvage Australian Gold

LONDON, July 31.—In her fifteen motor yacht, Miss Knowles Foster, P. R. G. S., set off from London on Saturday for the coast of Norfolk to search for two wrecks said to contain Australian gold. Any one can buy wrecks from admiralty and salvage it for themselves, the admiralty fixing the time limit during which the wreck must be either cleared or blown up, and in addition they claim half of the spoils. Miss Foster navigates her yacht and is studying for a master's ticket. The crew consists of a steward and two divers. Miss Foster's agreement with the admiralty is that she must carry out her adventures at the bitter end even if it costs her last penny.

HOLD UP SIXTY MOTORISTS; GET $176; 'T WAS JOKE

Williston, N. D., July 30.—Six cowboys wearing chaps, spurs, and firing 45 caliber revolvers "held up" sixty motorists who are making a tour of the Roosevelt National highway from Duluth to Glacier park, near here, at 6:30 o'clock today.

John Hoffmann, 62, cowboy, led the group. The cowboys then passed the hat and told the trembling men and women that it was all a joke and returned the $176 they collected from their first victim.

Tomorrow the cars leave here for Glacier park.

Widow, 80, Leaps to Death from Waldorf-Astoria

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—A leap from a twelve story window at the Waldorf-Astoria early today killed Mrs. Ella Van Nostrand, 80, believed crazed by the intense heat. She was the widow of James Van Nostrand, one of Brooklyn's leading men in civil war times, in whose memory a street and park have been named.

Police version of the suicide shows it was deliberate. She made her home alone at Hempstead, L. I.

Starving Amid Plenty, Man Chews Own Arm

New Orleans, La., July 31.—Because he was starving, James S. Bishop, hysterical from weakness, began to eat his own flesh today. The man was found by postoffice employees in Canfield street, near the postoffice, and sent to the charity hospital. Bishop hardly was able to walk, but managed to tell the police he is from Chicago. Abrasions marked his forearms where he had been chewing.

CHAIN OF CANDY STORES IN N. Y. CUT PRICES 50%

Admit Profits Have Been 300%.

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—Reductions amounting to approximately 50 per cent on candies, ice cream, and soda fountain drinks go into effect tomorrow in the Miller Candy company's confectionery stores, said an announcement tonight by Benjamin Miller, head of the corporation controlling this chain of stores.

This is the first general reduction to be made since the war by the Miller candy stores, of which there are seven in Manhattan and one in Brooklyn.

In a memorandum sent to Herman Heide, head of the Confectioners' association, Mr. Miller says that the confectionery stores generally have been making a profit of 300 per cent on their goods, which are classed as luxuries. He says he has found he can cut his prices in two and still make a profit.

Despite any action that may be taken by his association, Mr. Miller feels that he is doing the right thing by reducing the prices in his stores to pre-war levels, and so doing his bit to help along the "return to normalcy" advocated by President Harding.

At the same time, Sinn Fein pleaded for a united Ireland, and declared that any solution that would come must be based upon the principle that Ulster, as a part of Ireland, must come under the working of any new measure agreed to by the recognized representatives of the whole Irish people.

On the other hand, Ulster herself, in the interest of peace, may after all accept the situation philosophically, and resign herself to being an integral part of the Irish government.

The principle rallying cry of Ulster has been "no republic," and if Lloyd George, without permitting the creation of a republic, has succeeded in satisfying De Valera and De Valera's colleagues, it should be a comparatively simple task to force the solution upon Sir James Craig and the leaders of the north.

O'Brien Returns to Dublin.

DUBLIN, July 31.—[Special.]—President of the Gaelic League in London, who acted as one of the advisers of Eamon de Valera during the republican leader's talks with Premier Lloyd George in Downing street, arrived in Dublin this morning. Mr. O'Brien went to the Mansion house and held a conference with Mr. de Valera.

Three Children Smothered to Death Under Sandbank

Easton, Md., July 31.—Three children were killed and one so seriously injured when they were playing this afternoon under a sandbank. The dead are Annie Belle Collier, aged 7, Ernest Covey, aged 12, and Susie Covey, aged 8.

The injured child is Lena Covey, aged 9.

All the children except Lena were smothered under the sand, according to medical examinations.

Chicago Girl Elopes, Police Aid Is Sought

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 31.—[Special.]—A marriage license was obtained at Grand Haven Saturday afternoon by Russell Cone of Muskegon and Truth Violet West, daughter of a prominent Chicago physician, who eloped from the Muskegon summer resort colony. Their parents have appealed to officers of western Michigan to locate them. Whether a marriage ceremony was performed cannot be learned.

Young Woman Struck by Taxi; Dies in Hospital

An unidentified woman about 25 years old was struck by a taxicab driven by Henry Steffen at Wood street and Milwaukee avenue late last night. She died an hour later in the North Avenue hospital.

SOUTH IRELAND SEES PEACE IN BRITISH OFFER

Acceptance Is Near, London Says.

BY A. E. JOHNSON.
[United News Staff Correspondent.]

LONDON, July 31.—Lloyd George's offer of peace for Ireland, under terms more liberal than the most ardent of Irish republicans had actually expected, has been found acceptable by the Sinn Fein, it is learned on unquestionable authority.

Eamon de Valera and leaders of his party, after examining the proposals of the British premier for more than a week, have decided that the English project contains the maximum concessions that can be obtained from the imperial government and that it is completely compatible with Irish honor, affording a measure of self-government that can be accepted without loss of the nation's prestige.

Irish Gain Big Point.

Under the British proposal it is now declared, Ireland will be given a status as a "dominion," with even greater powers of home rule than those possessed by Canada. This implies practically complete control over both legislative and fiscal policies, the latter being a point for which the Irish delegation has consistently fought.

De Valera's acceptance of Lloyd George's terms means that the hardest task faced by the British premier, and perhaps the hardest task ever faced by any British government, has at last been accomplished—that he has evolved a compromise which successfully answers the Irish extremists' demand for a republic without completely severing the bonds between Ireland and England.

May Coerce Ulster.

It is believed, as a consequence, that regardless of what action Ulster may take or attempt to take, the government program will go through. Ulster, however loud her objections, is but a small geographical portion of the island. If she proves recalcitrant it will be a far easier task to coerce her into the acceptance of the situation than it would ever be to conquer and keep conquered—the country's great southern area.

As a consequence, therefore, it is highly possible that the Lloyd George reversal of policy, which from military coercion of southern Ireland and "favoritism" of Ulster has undergone a rapid change towards "coercion" of the north and "favorited treatment" of the south, will have to be continued indefinitely.

The present system of home rule under which Ulster finds herself so happily situated will go into the discard, to be supplanted by the broadest act under which any dominion of the empire holds its political existence.

Former Belle of Baltimore a Drug Victim

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—Detectives of the West 47th street station are searching for Robert Potter, a chauffeur, whose address they do not know, in the hope of clearing doubt as to the exact cause of death of a woman whom they believe to have been a former Baltimore society girl and whose life came to a sordid end here today.

The woman, on whose body an autopsy will be performed tomorrow morning to determine whether the medical examiner's office is right in its opinion that drink and drugs killed her, was, in the belief of the police, Sarah Cambellina Cowan, 33 years old, daughter of the late John K. Cowan, one time president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Has Romantic Marriage.

In 1908 she contracted a romantic runaway marriage with Charles Monahan Jr., son of a retired New Haven capitalist, whom she divorced in Washington state two years later on the ground of desertion.

Potter took the woman to the Hotel Maryland in West 49th street Saturday night and after telling the clerk she was ill, left. The hotel physician found her in a coma and summoned an ambulance from Flushing hospital. Dr. Miller said the woman was dead when he got there. A package believed to have contained morphine, was found on the dresser and two empty glasses stood near the bed.

Forgotten by Friends.

Known as the most beautiful debutante of her season in Baltimore, Miss Cowan, after her marriage and divorce, passed out of the ken of her former associates, and word from Baltimore today was that she had not been seen there for years. Reports that she inherited from her father and dissipated a fortune were denied.

Miss Cowan met Monahan when her car smashed into his. She invited Monahan into her automobile while she towed him to a garage. They were fast friends by the time they reached the garage and ran away to the Little Church Around the Corner soon after.

Her mother died many years ago, but society folk in Baltimore still remembered her and were shocked tonight to learn the manner of her death.

TROOPS PATROL LISBON; CABINET CRISIS FORECAST

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Another political crisis, in which the soldiers are playing an important part, has arisen in Lisbon, Portugal, according to the Daily Mail.

A dispatch from Vigo, Spain, dated Sunday, said all the Lisbon garrison was called out at 4 o'clock Saturday morning. Soldiers picketed the streets and placed guns in the principal thoroughfares and squares.

The members of the Portuguese cabinet were then conferring with the president, and "important events" were reported as impending, the dispatch added.

Body of Missing Nurse Found in Sea; Murder?

Providence, R. I., July 31.—The body of a woman believed to be that of Miss Mollie Oates, a Huntington, L. I., nurse, who disappeared from her room on the steamer Georgia, between New York and this city, Friday night, was found thrown up against a sea wall in Warwick this afternoon. Absence of water in the woman's lungs and discovery of wounds in her head led the authorities to suspect murder.

Youngest Holdup Victim Loses Carriage and Shoes

New York, July 31.—David Fund, 2½ years old, of the Bronx, has the distinction of being New York's youngest victim of a holdup. David was left in his baby carriage outside a store to-night while a maid went in to make a purchase. When she returned the carriage and baby were gone. Later the child was found playing in the street, minus his shoes, and the perambulator was nowhere to be seen.

Frost Bitten in Hot N. Y., Victim Is in Hospital

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—While New Yorkers have been suffering acutely from the heat wave, Florida H. Mallo, 30, is frost bitten and being treated at the Lincoln hospital. Mallo, an ice dealer, was locked in a huge icebox by three bandits after they had robbed him.

Hospital internes say his condition is serious.

11 Reported Hurt as Auto Hits Minneapolis Train

Minneapolis, Minn., July 31.—Eleven persons are reported to have been injured and burned severely when an automobile and street car collided late today at Christmas lake.

VICTIMS SPREAD PESTILENCE IN FAMINE FLIGHT

Ill Fed Soldiers in Rebellion.

Famine and pestilence are depopulating vast stretches of Russia. Hordes of starving victims are fleeing to healthier districts carrying with them infection and spreading terror and the plague wherever they go.

The commissar of public health of soviet Russia is raising the spectre of the cholera epidemic and famine of 1891-92 before the people and orders them to treat the "cholera front" as a war front.

Reports from the famine zone show a vast increase in the death rate. Crops are one-fortieth normal and the only food for tens of thousands of victims consists of acorns, grass and field mice.

Even Petrograd is termed a city of the dead.

Signs of anarchy are seen and hordes of hungry soldiers have deserted and are reported to be marching toward Moscow, the Red capital.

RIGA, Latvia, July 31.—[By the Associated Press.]—The task of fighting the present serious cholera epidemic in soviet Russia is magnified in its difficulties by the terrible sanitary state existing virtually throughout the country, says Dr. N. Semashko, commissar of public health of the soviet government, writing in the Moscow Izvestia.

"Dirt in the towns is such that even in dry weather persons who are fortunate enough to have overcoats walk in the streets in them; sewage and water supplies are in terrible disrepair," Dr. Semashko writes.

Added to this, says the doctor, is the "mass migration," as if it had been maliciously planned, distributing the infection from one place to another for thousands and tens of thousands of versts. The starving population of the Volga is moving to the south as an avalanche, sowing on its way infection and death.

Reaches Epidemic Stage.

The cholera has already developed into a big epidemic in the Volga, Voronezh, Rostoff, and Orel governments. Scattered outbreaks have been discovered in the most widespread localities of the republic.

"In the Volga region is seen the specter of the cholera and famine years of 1891-1892. Those who have lived through those years, not to speak of those who participated in the fighting against the epidemic, feel their blood grow cold in their veins at the memory of it. At present every one begins to cross himself."

Dr. Semashko says one of the principal difficulties facing the campaign against cholera is the uncontrolled horde of travelers riding everywhere, inside and outside, on the roofs, under the platforms, and clinging to every inch of the trains throughout Russia.

Vaccination Urged.

He advocates stationing army "vaccination squads" at every railway station to vaccinate every traveler and permit none to go onward without a certificate that he has undergone this process.

General compulsory vaccination, quarantine of infected districts, and immediate mobilization of sanitary personnel have been ordered. Repairs of sewage systems are being rushed and workmen have been appealed to to consider the "cholera front" an actual war front.

Starving Troops Rebel.

LONDON, July 31.—[United Press.]—Hordes of ill-fed soviet troops fleeing from the famine regions of Russia, unchecked and undisciplined, are reported to be moving toward Moscow and there is said to be imminent danger that such government as the soviets have been able to establish is in danger of collapsing into anarchy.

Finland, Latvia, Poland, and Roumania are reported to be taking precautionary military measures to protect their borders.

Advices received here from Russia state that Nikolai Lenin is coming to London on urgent government business and that Leon Trotsky is being dispatched to Siberia on a private mission.

There are no indications that the political opponents of the soviets are attempting to make political capital out of the famine, for all are reported to be working to alleviate the distress of the famished people.

The emigration of masses of people from the affected districts to those which are not so bad off for food continues. Daily thousands are passing Famine Distress Growing.

BERLIN, July 31.—[United Press.] Thousands of inhabitants of the famine-stricken areas of Russia are trying to live on grass, acorns, and field mice, and the death rate is terrific, according to dispatches received from Russia.

The harvest in the drought-stricken zones is reported to be less than one-twentieth of normal. Cholera is now adding to the horrors of starvation, which in one district has reduced the people to live on sawdust, moss, and roots, with sometimes a handful of flour.

Rationing exists in a few of the larger cities, but elsewhere the people must manage as best they can. Nearly everywhere in Russia work has ceased now. Petrograd is a city of death, according to apparently reliable advices, the official ration, which is no guarantee of food, allowing one pound of bread per head per day, four ounces of sugar per month, and one pound of dried fish per month.

Food Prices Soar.
There are no potatoes and the prices for other vegetables have mounted to enormous figures. Butter is 25,000 roubles per pound when it can be had at all. Sugar is 25,000 roubles per pound, and shoes cost 300,000 roubles per pair.

The German colonists, who had settled in the Volga district have fled and are now living by begging and foraging. It is feared here that almost all of them are facing death, as various districts report that the people have waited too long before attempting to flee, the result being that many of them now cannot walk twenty paces without dropping.

One district reports that 90 per cent of the inhabitants have cholera.

MRS. HARRISON'S STORY

RIGA, July 31.—[By the Associated Press.]—The release of all Americans still in prison in Russia may be expected within a few days, according to Mrs. Margaret E. Harrison of Baltimore, who herself spent many months in imprisonment at Moscow, but who was released and came here under the protection of Senator France of Maryland. She was informed before leaving Moscow that all would be set soon.

No formal notification of the release of the Americans has yet been received at Riga, and the American officials have not been advised as to whether the prisoners will be freed one at a time or in a group.

Mrs. Harrison related her story today and pictured her life in prison as differing far from sketches of her sufferings drawn from time to time by travelers arriving in the Baltic states from Russia.

Brings Back Deep Cough.
Although under close confinement for considerable time, she gave an unemotional statement of her experiences. She was thin and frail, and her recital was interrupted occasionally by a deep cough, as she unreservedly told of events from the day of her arrest to her release.

"I was first arrested on April 4, 1920, two months after I arrived in Russia by way of the Polish frontier," she said. "I was detained two days for cross-examination, then was released, and for six months was permitted to work unmolested in Moscow."

"In October I was again arrested by order of the cheka (the soviet investigation). I was charged, among other things, with having come to Russia without permission, with having supplied food illegally to American and British prisoners, and with having been in communication with people hostile to the government—all of which was true. The examiners were polite, but they made me realize the seriousness of my position."

In "Solitary" Six Days.
"Then I was put in solitary confinement for six days, not in a dungeon, but in a room like a small single room of a hotel. At no time was I in a dungeon, and this was my only solitary confinement in Russia."

"I was removed on my own request to a general room, with the occupants varying from seven to eleven, where I spent nearly eight months. This building was not originally a prison, but was an old rooming house; it was primarily used for detention only, and the physical discomforts there were due to this fact."

"Generally speaking, the rations were as good as, or better than, in the soviet dining rooms outside, but I, like the others, inside and out, lost

"The Northcliffe Incident"

H. Wickham Steed (left), editor of the London Times, and his famous boss, Lord Northcliffe, whose fight on Lloyd George has become a matter of world note, are pictured above as they appeared on leaving the White House after visiting President Harding last week.

Mr. Steed was credited with the interview reciting a conversation between Lloyd George and King George on the Irish situation which the king has denounced as a fabrication. The king was alleged to have said to his premier: "I cannot have my people killed in this manner."

In the English newspapers the interview was attributed to Northcliffe. Mr. Steed was quoted in the New York Times, where the interview originally appeared, but the London press quoted Lord Northcliffe. It is supposed that some English correspondent in New York jumped to the conclusion that Mr. Steed was talking for Northcliffe.

weight on them. Food packages from outside were permitted weekly, and in these I shared intermittently.

Failed to Receive Packages.
"There were periods of several weeks when I got nothing from the outside, and packages sent apparently never reached."

"I had one more hearing in November, which was without result. At intervals, after Jan. 1, I was informed officially that there were prospects of my release if the American government formally demanded it, on the basis of trade negotiations or in exchange for Communist prisoners in America."

"On June 6, by order of the prison physician, I was removed from Cheka detention to the hospital in another and better equipped prison, especially for women, where I remained until released, receiving every care and attention."

Mrs. Harrison declared she gave no pledge to the bolsheviks not to talk outside, but refused when asked for one, saying she would not accept release under any such conditions. She was kept in suspense up to the last day before her release, not knowing whether she was going to trial or to freedom.

ARMS CONCLAVE OF VITAL IMPORT —NORTHCLIFFE

Says Talk About Dry Law in U. S. Amazed Him.

Toronto, July 31.—Viscount Northcliffe believes that the Washington disarmament conference will transcend in importance the historic Paris peace conclave; and after visits with President Harding and Secretary Hughes, he believes the political jockeying for position will be vastly more interesting than was the jockeying before and during the Paris meet.

The Washington conference, he thinks, will be a long one and may move to several different places before it finally ends.

Lord Northcliffe terminated his twenty-first visit to the United States when he crossed the Canadian line early Sunday, and while this last visit has been by all odds the most dramatic, he purposed to forget its details with his entrance to Canada.

Refuses to Discuss "Incident."
At Hamilton, Canadian newspaper men began boarding his train seeking interviews on the Washington "incident."

"So far as I am concerned, there has been no incident," the British publisher replied to them, "and I rather think the whole thing will be forgotten everywhere by Monday."

H. Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, stressed the point that Lord Northcliffe's tour is of a purely personal nature and in no sense an official journey. Hence, the government officials in countries to be visited would be expected to act toward Northcliffe exactly as they would act toward any other British subject.

"If they like the looks of his nose, as it were, they will entertain him. If they don't like it, they won't," he said.

How U. S. Impressed Them.
Asked what were the most striking impressions gained by observing American life, members of the party gave different versions.

Northcliffe himself said his most vivid impression was "the amount of conversation one hears everywhere he goes on the subject of prohibition." The most remarkable thing to Mr. Steed was "the city of Washington, which I believe is the only city in the world whose whole industry is politics."

To Secretary Snodgrass, the wonder was "the number of automobiles. It would seem that everybody has one." But Snodgrass also declared, "are so extraordinarily slow."

Australia Not Interested.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] SYDNEY, Aug. 1.—The British government's attitude toward Lord Northcliffe is not considered likely to interfere with his reception and entertainment in Australia, as the difference between him and the British ministers are regarded as a domestic concern which does not affect Australians. Lord Northcliffe is held in the greatest admiration in Australia.

Describes One Atrocity.
"During the night of May 26 a company of 100 soldiers who had belonged to the army of Balachovitch made their way into the little town. They began to shoot, destroying the houses and killing Jews. After several hours the entire Jewish population had assembled in two synagogues, where they were notified they would be burnt alive. It was only after the supplications of the priests that the bandits gave up their intention. The Jewish population who thus expected destruction fled to Bobruisk and to Slutsk."

The report gives a list of twenty-five persons in Luban and of five in Starobin who were killed.

A cable received by the Jewish Morning Journal from the Federation of Ukrainian Jews in London, reports 16 Jews killed at Partish, 5 at Trumina, 9 at Outshachta, 6 at Davidovka, 14 at Romanishai, 12 at Pauchiza, and 30 at Shedin. At Kovlits the number of victims is estimated at 300."

Looking Ahead In Business

Leading economists, bankers and business executives are of the opinion that the entire world is now entering a period of slowly falling prices to last for a number of years.

Conduct of business in an era of falling prices presents radically different problems from those to which we have become accustomed during the past quarter of a century of rising prices and shrinking dollars.

It is significant that the majority of men actively engaged in the management of businesses today have obtained their training and experience during a period of rising prices. And it will be necessary for them to readjust themselves to demands of the present.

For instance, in procuring of raw material, finishing of product, distributing to the trade and placing in the hands of the ultimate consumer, the element of time must now be shortened in order to avoid possible losses. An assured market paralleling production is highly desirable if not imperative.

Jobbers and retailers will wisely confine their buying to merchandise which has a quick turnover. Fewer duplicating items or lines will be handled and stocks will be small.

Branded, trade-marked products with a consumer demand and acceptance created by advertising to the public have an assured market. Manufacturers of such commodities will have a good business during years of falling prices. Other manufacturers may find business not so good or profits slipping away on account of slow turnover in a falling market.

The practical application of advertising to business is one of the big issues of today. For over 17 years we have specialized in advertising and merchandising. Our complete service is available to concerns located in Chicago or within a night's ride thereof. Write, wire or call for further information.

The

RED PENDULUM SWINGING BACK TO CAPITALISM

Soviet Evolution Lauded by Senator France.

BY WALTER DURANTY.
(Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.)
(Copyright, 1921.)

MOSCOW, July 31.—Russia is reverting to capitalism, inevitably by the play of countless natural forces. Bolshevik leaders, far from attempting to impede the process, recognize its inevitability and are framing their laws accordingly. The revolution itself was not the outcome of communist action, but the result of the same natural forces which now are swinging the pendulum back from communism to capitalism.

These are the three main points of Senator France's impressions after a four weeks' visit to Russia, which terminated with his arrival on Latvian soil yesterday morning.

Despite the famine in the Volga area, which is taxing to the uttermost all the energies and resources of the Soviet government, the senator is optimistic about the future of Russia.

Says Soviets Will Stay.
And by that he means the future of Russia under Soviet rule, for he believes the actual government, though it may be greatly modified in policy or personnel, is founded upon a basis so broad and so strong that it cannot be overthrown.

That basis is the Russian peasant, who comprises nearly 90 per cent of the population. As regards the possible political effects of the famine, Senator France does not believe they will be adverse to the Soviet regime.

"France has brought upon the parties in Russia a truce," he said. "Men of all classes and beliefs are coming together to fight common enemies. The recently formed relief committee included representatives even of the irreconcilables. They are working in unity for the general benefit."

Takes Moscow as Criterion.
The senator admitted his personal experience has been confined to Moscow and an area of say 100 miles around the capital. Whether that can be taken as representative of all Russia outside the famine area is a question. The senator maintained it can. Briefly, he defined his reasoning as follows:

"Though the return of Russia to capitalism is the most important feature of the situation, I must preface the reference thereto by a brief explanation of the revolution itself, as given to me by Moscow leaders.

"The pivot of the whole thing is this—the revolution was not directed by them or any one else, nor was it planned beforehand or ever devised to meet the occasion. It proceeded on an irresistible course as naturally as an avalanche reaches the bottom of the mountain valley by gravity.

Beds Forced Into Power.
"You see, before the revolution all Russian land was held in fee simple by the czar, nobility, and the church—in other words, by the czarist regime. Once that regime was overthrown the land became ownerless. All the millions of the Russian peasantry felt that the time had come to take possession of the soil they had tilled. The Bolsheviks rode into power on the crest of that wave of universal sentiment.

"Once the country estates were seized, it was natural and logical that urban property, from the mansions of the nobility to factories, be seized also. From that to the confiscation of banks, etc., was but a brief step.

"Thus, you have the state of affairs in Russia, say, two years ago. But by their very action in legitimizing the seizure of land by the peasants, the Bolsheviks laid a new and infinitely broader foundation for the capitalism they were striving to overthrow. They see that, now, themselves, and are prepared to act accordingly."

Leaders Sense Situation.
On this point, the senator was particularly insistent. He declares that the principal Soviet leaders—Lenin, Trotsky, Tchitcherine—recognize the realities of the situation. They have abandoned the Marxian Utopia for earth as it is. They are open minded. They won't try to dam or even swim against the flood of natural forces.

"It is on the Russian peasantry—that the people are small land owners—that the strength of Soviet rule rests. Naturally, these peasants want to sell their produce in order to buy things they need and desire. On that universal want capitalism must return and is returning. There is the whole matter in a nutshell."

CHASING THE GAMBLERS FROM OUR FRONT YARD

It is unwonted with what tenacity the seekers after gain will persist. Gaze upon Grant park, our municipal front lawn, here pictured, and discover how nimble are the crapsshooters when the police charge upon them and scatter them. A couple of dozen professional manipulators of dice, said by the police to be traveling in the wake of the circus, carried on a thriving business yesterday. None was barred. Boys of 11 and 12, as well as elderly gentlemen, ventured their dimes and dollars. And all alike, they went home fat in purse and humble in spirit. Several times during the day the police in patrol wagons and automobiles charged pell-mell through the crowds gathered about each dice game and sent the gamblers flying over the field. The police contented themselves with Cossack sallies, deeming it hardly worth while to make arrests by the hundreds while instigators of the sport made away undetected. Not alone dice games but the ancient three shell and other ensnaring games prospered intermittently between charges by the police. They're still going.

CLEAR'S MURDER MYSTERY; SAYS HE SLEW VETERAN

Hastings, Mich., July 31.—[Special.]

The mystery of the unidentified man whose body was taken from Bullhead lake, on the Moore farm near here, last week, was cleared up Sunday when the police wrung from Frank Soules, 21, former service man, a confession that he had killed Harry Robinson, clerk of the Parker hotel here, to get possession of Robinson's automobile.

After striking Robinson on the head with a piece of fence rail, he told Sheriff Burt and Prosecuting Attorney Gould, he pushed him into the water and held his head down.

Soules, who has been using Robinson's automobile, was arrested Saturday afternoon, when identity of the murder victim was established. He at first denied knowledge that Robinson was dead, or that he killed him, but after continued questioning for several hours, broke down and signed a statement.

The two men drove to the lake to fish, Soules told the officers. They had no quarrel, and until that night Soules had no thought of killing his companion. He had no idea of injuring his victim or robbing him of money, he declared. But struck Robinson solely to get possession of his automobile.

New North Dakota League Goes After Nonpartisans

Fargo, N. D., July 31.—[Special.]

German efforts to discredit the acts of A. Mitchell Palmer and Francis P. Garvan in the office of the alien property custodian during the Wilson administration, and to obtain the return of German owned property, money and securities seized during the war, have gained impetus since the signing of the peace resolution by President Harding on July 2.

Otto Heinz, former president of the Bosch Magneto company, who is suing to have the sale of that concern by Mr. Palmer to American interests declared null and void, arrived from Germany July 22, and is looked to as a leader in the campaign. Mr. Heinz and his attorney, Harvey T. Andrews, have been extremely active in the last ten days, holding conferences with leaders here.

Mr. Andrews informed a reporter that he had about twelve clients who, like Mr. Heinz, were fighting for their property. According to Mr. Andrews, there are about 25,000 properties and patents of an approximate value of $550,000,000 not returned to original owners out of a total of 40,000 trusts worth $1,000,000,000 seized by the alien property custodian during the war.

BRITISH MAY ASK FOR PARTITION OF REPARATIONS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

PARIS, July 31.—Well informed circles here believe that Prime Minister Lloyd George will ask the allied supreme council at the forthcoming session for partition of the reparations which Germany has paid so far to get possession of the cost of the armistice occupation.

The premier expects American support for this request through Ambassador Harvey as a result of the outcries in Washington against the expense of maintaining the Coblenz garrison.

The rumor persists that the Bolsheviks are preparing to recognize the old Russian debt to France so France will recognize the Soviet government. It is believed action on this may be precipitated if Italy moves to discuss Russia before the council as a result of Russia's appeal for food. The United States is likely to hold the trump card on this proposition also, as it is said Premier Briand will follow Ambassador Harvey's attitude.

WASHINGTON NEWS—IN BRIEF—

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 31.

Hearings on the American valuation provision of the Fordney tariff bill and the dye embargo will be held by the senate finance committee this week. The prospect being that the valuation provision will either be eliminated or modified materially.

Senate and house leaders are planning immediate action on the legislation recommended by President Harding to provide funds for final settlement with the railroads.

In framing the new revenue bill members of the house ways and means committee are seeking a solution of problems involving the present capital stock tax, which has been described as the "most uncertain, most unequal and most complicated of the existing federal taxes."

Administration officials are firm in their opposition to a preliminary conference, since it could not be participated in by all the powers invited to the Washington conference on limitation of armaments and Pacific and far eastern problems.

Shot, Claims He Never Saw Assaulters Before

He was in front of his home when the men called to him in Italian that they were going to kill him. One fired two shots. A shot struck Francesi in the thigh. He was not seriously wounded.

BERLIN SLOGAN 7 YEARS AFTER, "NO MORE WARS"

All Germany Observes War's Birthday.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

BERLIN, July 31.—Guarded by thousands of police with revolvers and rifles to protect them from the junkers, twenty-six organizations, including war cripples and pacifists, held demonstrations throughout Germany today under the slogan on a thousand banners, "No more war."

Republican, democratic, socialist, and religious societies, including the Quakers, participated in parades and meetings, the chief demonstration being held in the Lustgarten, in front of the former kaiser's palace.

More than 20,000 persons were there, cheering for world peace, some praising President Harding's disarmament program.

War's Seventh Birthday.
This was celebrated the seventh anniversary of the declaration of the world war, as one of the pacifist banners announced, "The seventh anniversary of the great war murder."

Several other banners and many speakers emphasized the point that peace had not yet come to Europe, but the majority instead of being German partisans called for any and all plans that would avert another conflict such as that which began in 1914.

Numerous clubs throughout the country and the nationalist and junker press blamed the war on everybody but Germany, denied Germany lost the war, and abused everybody who was against war, and a war to "revenge imperial Germany" was openly discussed.

Monarchists Keep Busy.

The anniversary of the war brought these opposing elements into startling contrast. Most noticeable have been monarchist manifestations in favor of the return of the former kaiser and attacks upon Chancellor Wirth. Foreign Minister Rosen, and President Ebert—attacks brought not by the policies of the leaders or their programs, but because these men are declared to be making Germany a democratic republic in fact as well as in name.

ARTIST LAYS FRENCH AND SPANISH CLASH TO LAYING OF CABLE

Rivalry between French and Spanish at Tangier, on the coast of northern Africa, opposite Gibraltar, is attributed to the laying of a cable by Spaniards, who are said to have neglected to ask French permission, according to Miss Ethel Coe, artist, who returned to her home, 1223 Elmwood avenue, Evanston, yesterday afternoon after a two months' stay in the seaport.

Miss Ethel Coe, a member of the faculty of the Art Institute and of the University of Chicago, and former instructor of art at Northwestern university, visited Tangier to paint street and garden scenes. Her work probably will be exhibited in the Art Institute upon their arrival in Chicago.

Miss Coe witnessed warfare between Moors and Spaniards. Once her life was endangered when she was caught in a street battle, but her guide rescued her.

"Tangier, an international port, is going to be the principal entry to northern Africa," she predicts. "Railroad lines are being built from Tangier to several other points in Africa."

She praised the way in which France colonizing northern Africa, saying that buildings now being erected are architecturally harmonious with the old world structures there now.

ARMY AND NAVY REVISION PLAN AWAITS HARDING

One Portfolio Urged by Brown.

BY RALPH H. TURNER.
[United News Staff Correspondent.]
Washington, D. C., July 31.—When President Harding returns to Washington there will be placed before him an outline of the most radical revision of America's governmental establishments that has been attempted since the war.

Walter F. Brown, chairman of the congressional reorganization committee and the President's representative in the administration's plan for overhauling the whole governmental machine, virtually has completed his recommendations. He had intended placing them before the cabinet last week, but postponed his report because of the President's absence.

One Defense Portfolio.
Perhaps the most important of Brown's ideas is his decision to urge a union of the war and navy departments under a department of national defense. This new creation would be headed by a cabinet secretary, with undersecretaries of war and navy.

Brown declines to say whether he has "sold" Secretaries Weeks and Denby on this proposal, but has been quoted as saying there was "favorable support" for the plan in the administration.

President Harding, it is believed, will urge the combination. There has been no decision thus far to establish a third arm of the government, relating solely to the air, but a great measure of coordination will be urged between the army and navy air services.

New Body for Welfare.
It also is proposed to introduce a new department of public welfare. By this action disapproval is voiced of the present bill in congress to create a separate department of education, as the intention now is to place education under the welfare department.

Two other functions, the public health service and the care of ex-servicemen, could be taken from the treasury department and put under the new welfare division.

The mission of Mr. Brown and the congressional committee is not so much the saving of money, Budget Director Davies being charged with that end, as it is the promotion of efficiency.

Overlapping functions and duplications will be eliminated so far as possible.

DANZIG MUNITION WORKS SHUT ON LEAGUE'S ORDER
PARIS, July 31.—A dispatch to the Havas Agency from Danzig says the arms and munitions factory there has been closed by order of the council of the league of nations.

A dispatch from Geneva last month referred to an order which the Danzig factory had received, shortly before the free city came under the supervision of the league of nations, for a number of rifle barrels for Mexico. It was decided that the council of the league could do nothing concerning the stopping of the manufacture of the rifle barrels, but it was declared that the council would see to it that a promise to transform the arms plant into a bicycle factory or some other industry of peace was put into effect.

DOMINIONS MAY BE ABSENT FROM DISARM PARLEY

Now Urge a Preliminary Conference on Topic.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—The continued discussion in London of an international conference preliminary to the formal conference on disarmament and far eastern affairs is not due to any change of attitude on the part of the United States government.

It may be said flatly that America will not join in any preliminary conference unless all the principal allied and associated powers are represented, and there is no prospect that there would be such general representation in any preliminary meeting.

Premiere Urge Step.
Great Britain's proposal for a preliminary conference is born of the wishes of the prime ministers of the British overseas dominions, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, and South Africa. They are now in London attending the imperial conference, and their engagements at home probably will make it impossible for them, with the exception of Premier Meighan of Canada, to attend the formal conference in Washington if it begins in November, as President Harding has suggested.

The anxiety of the British overseas premiers to have a preliminary conference in the United States or Canada on their way back to their own capitals is well understood by the Harding administration, which has sympathy for the position of these premiers, but responsible officials here believe it would bring about an embarrassing situation in international relations unless all the powers invited could participate.

Japan Could Not Be There.
France and Italy might possibly be able to send delegates to a preliminary meeting, but Japan could not. It seems to be assumed that the conference will be held in Washington, the place named in President Harding's original proposal. The date is still a matter of discussion. This government is hopeful that the President's suggestion of Armistice day, Nov. 11, will be adopted, but is not insistent in this connection.

British O. K. U. S. Views.
LONDON, July 31.—Japan's acceptance of the American disarmament invitation, although hedged in by certain conditions and reservations, has served to clarify the atmosphere as far as British officials are concerned.

It can be stated on the highest authority that a majority of British statesmen, both in and out of power, see eye to eye with America on a great many of the questions in the far east. The momentous conferences of the last two weeks in which Lord Curzon and Baron Haysahl, ambassador from Tokio, have taken part, have been designed first to permit England to safeguard her own interests, and second, to lay a foundation on which, without sacrificing American friendship, the British empire can retain its influence over Japan in the event of a crisis.

England's Plan to Serve.
The position of Downing street is that Great Britain can best be of service by remaining friendly both to America and Japan. England's chief fear is that denunciation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, theoretically because of pressure from America and America's supporters within the empire, would be misinterpreted by the Japanese, exactly as Americans are now misinterpreting the real significance of the alliance, which British statesmen today call "innocuous."

At the same time, the pressure from within is growing stronger daily, and the press is becoming insistent that the alliance be denounced. As the Spectator says: "We deeply regret that the premier did not denounce the alliance at the same time he accepted President Harding's invitation. Things of form seem things of substance."

J. L. Garvin, in the Observer, urges the Dominion premiers go to America in a body at once, if only for conversations with Hughes and Harding. As for the main conference, he looks for rapid action from Lloyd George, saying: "Both Hughes and Lloyd George are Welshmen. When they meet face to face, the human bond of understanding ought to be strengthened by that fact. Secretary Hughes is unquestionably one of America's greatest statesmen, while Lloyd George is undoubtedly the greatest of all historic Welshmen. Both are proud of their descent."

FINAL HEARINGS ON "VALUATION" PLAN ON TODAY

Tariff Will Be Settled at Sessions This Week.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—This will be a critical week in the consideration by congress of the provision of the Fordney tariff bill for the valuation of imports, not at the lower price abroad but at the higher price of such articles in this country.

At the senate finance committee hearings tomorrow and Tuesday, manufacturers will argue for and importers against this provision, which the Chicago Tribune has shown would produce an endless spiral of increasing prices, not only of the foreign but of the competing articles of American production.

After hearings on the dye embargo Wednesday, the committee will spend the remainder of the week in executive session to take definite action on the dye and American valuation questions. The prospect is that the committee either will eliminate the American valuation provision or modify materially the form in which it was passed by the house.

Will Check on Davis' Views.
Members of the committee want to ascertain the views of both manufacturers and importers on the proposal made last week by George C. Davis, special agent of the customs service in charge of the New York district, relative to a modified form of the American valuation plan. Several Republican members who favor the principle of American valuation believe the Davis scheme is feasible.

Mr. Davis was strongly opposed to the adoption of the American valuation because of the administrative difficulties involved. His suggestion was that the foreign valuation system should continue, but that if any manufacturer makes an article which has its counterpart in a foreign article he shall be given the opportunity to establish its comparability before customs officials.

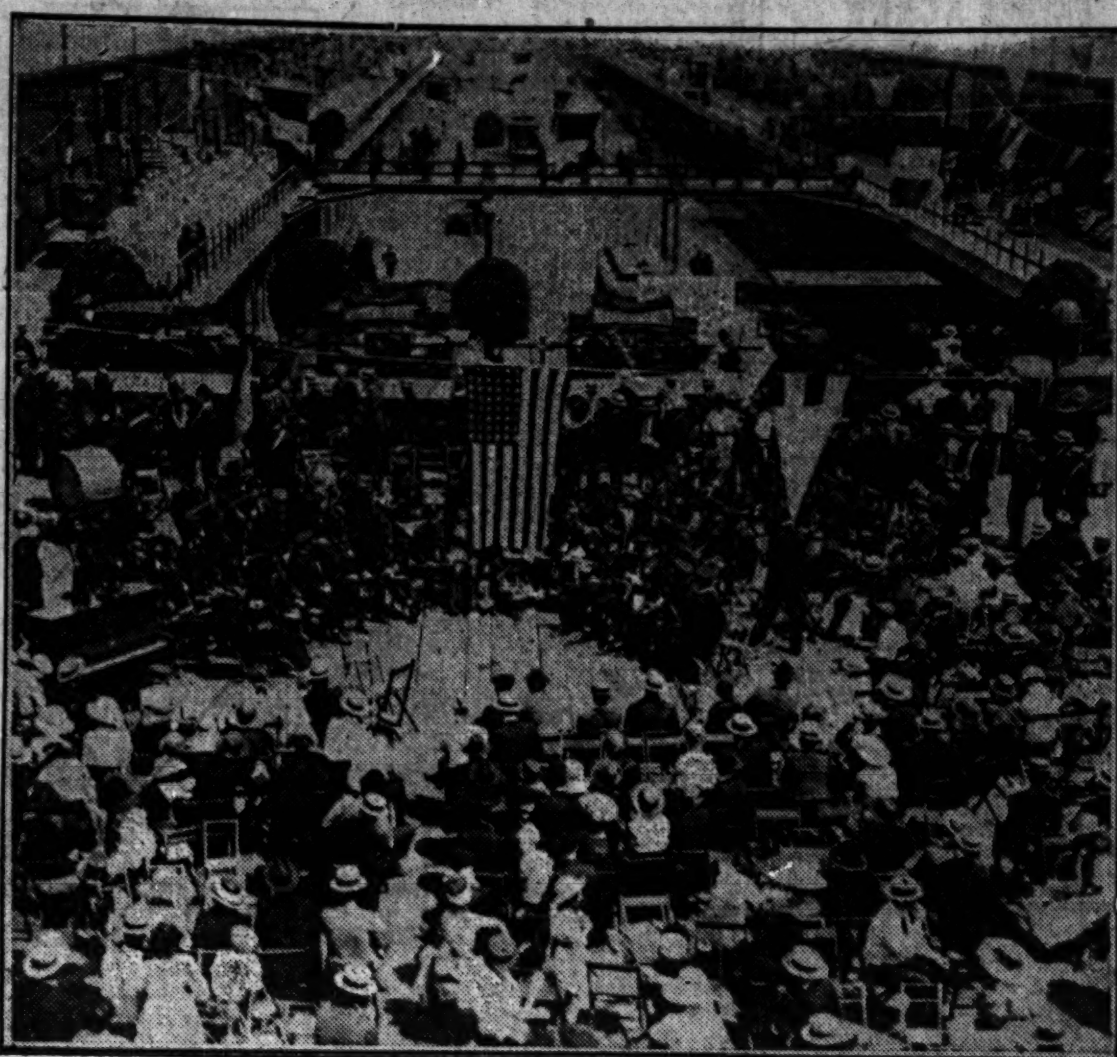

After the fact of comparability has been established, appraisers would be instructed to appraise the foreign article at the price of the domestic article, minus duty, transportation charges, and expenses and profit. Mr. Davis suggested tentatively that the profit be limited to 8 per cent and miscellaneous expense items to 8 per cent.

Would Smooth Its Operation.
"Gradually as these comparable articles come forward and comparability is successfully established, we may apply domestic prices on the products," Mr. Davis said, in explaining the suggestion. "They will go into effect gradually. It will not disturb the machinery of the customs service. As to all other articles, they would be appraised at the foreign wholesale value as they are today."

Mr. Davis' plan involves another feature. This has to do with consigned goods when foreign markets are closed to the American buyers. In such cases the agent or branch house is situated in this country and all business has to be transacted with the foreigner in this country.

Mr. Davis suggested this class of merchandise should take the American selling price of the imported article after subtracting the duty, freight and insurance, and, in case of a commission, not more than 4 per cent, or for actual purchase by the agent, not to exceed 8 per cent for expense and 8 per cent profit. He points out that the foreign manufacturer has transferred part of his overhead expense to this country in such cases, and thereby makes some saving in duty. Thus far no importers have been heard on this scheme.

Why It Is Favored.
The chief argument advanced for the American valuation plan has been that it would meet the exchange situation, making it possible to equalize duties on similar articles from foreign countries, while the strongest objections to it have emphasized the administrative difficulties involved.

In case the Davis suggestion is approved, it will be necessary to revise the ad valorem rates back to the foreign valuation basis. The ad valorem rates in the Fordney bill were scaled down about one-third below the level which was considered necessary under the foreign valuation plan. Adoption of the Davis scheme would mean an increase of the ad valorem rates, but in cases where the duties would be assessed on the American value, less deductions, the same degree of protection would be provided.

DR. BEN REITMAN TOLD HE CANNOT LAND IN BRITAIN

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—Dr. Ben L. Reitman of Chicago today was warned not to take passage for Europe on the Adriatic Wednesday, as he would not be allowed to land in Great Britain.

The warning came from J. P. Main, British passport official in New York, despite approval of Reitman's passport by British, French, and Swiss representatives in Chicago. Capt. LATIN AMERICAN UPTOPIANS SCHEME STARTS K. C. RIOT

Kansas City, Mo., July 31.—A riot call last night sent a squad of motorcycle police to a house on the east side, where several hundred persons had gathered to hear discussed a South American colonization scheme, fostered, it was said, by a man who recently was a flimman for the local power company.

When the police arrived the crowd was being addressed by a man who said he was the flimman's attorney. He explained that the flimman was unable to be present. He said he had been given glowing accounts of a plan to build a large electrical program to be carried out in French Guiana by an eastern concern and that 3,000 men and their families would be permitted to go there, provided they each signed a four year contract and agreed to put up a $1,000 security bond. The attorney said his investigation had failed to reveal trace of the company of which the former flimman told, and he expressed the belief that his client had been duped.

The crowd was at last dispersed quietly.

40 THIEVES, 12 OF THEM WOMEN, BUSY IN ILLINOIS

Urbana, Ill., July 31.—[Special.]—A large gang of thieves, numbering about forty, including thirty men and twelve women, with operations confined to five central eastern Illinois counties, has been uncovered by officers of Vermilion, Macon, Champaign, and Piatt counties.

Already seven arrests have been made, three at Bement and four at Decatur, and drastic steps are being taken to round up the remainder of the gang. Police officials expect weeks will be necessary to gather those under suspicion. The cleanup of the gang and revelations of its offenses, with the recovery of loot estimated by officers to exceed $100,000, is expected to equal any criminal procedure of the like in Illinois in recent years.

MARSH FIRE: WOLVES!
Laporte, Ind., July 31.—[Special.]—The marsh fire of the last few days have driven several packs of wolves from their lairs in the Kankakee region. A number of the animals have been killed by hunters, several making a drive today. The fire has now been raging for more than two weeks and damages mounting into the thousands of dollars have resulted.

MULTI-COLORED CAPES NEW FAD OF PARISIENNES

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, July 31.—The Paris summer season closed today, this being the last day of racing here. Tomorrow the race tracks at the seaside resorts will reopen and as a result every one is being drawn to Normandy and Brittany.

Vivid Spanish capes, hand painted in the most striking color combinations, are the newest Paris fad. The capes are trimmed with long fringes. One sees green, blue, yellow, and red indiscriminately mixed up in these as well as gold and silver woven designs.

One piece evening dresses, cut most daringly are seen at the fashionable restaurants. The gowns are sleeveless, V-necked, V-backed, and are fastened on the left side between the armpit and knee by snaps. Dreammakers admit the new one piece gown is not intended to be worn with underwear.

JAPANESE SEEK BIG CONCESSIONS FROM SIBERIAN

Tokio Playing Faction Against Faction.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
VLADIVOSTOK, July 31.—Japanese troops must remain in the Siberian maritime province until a stable government is assured, said Maj. Gen. Tanaka, chief of staff to Gen. Tachibana, in command of the Japanese army occupying Siberia, to a correspondent for this Chicago Tribune.
"If we evacuate now there will certainly be great disorder in Vladivostok and also throughout the maritime province."
"We have never hampered the Chita government, but, on the other hand, Japanese merchants go there they are prevented from doing business. Only lately a Japanese citizen was murdered in Chita, while a few days ago the partisans blew up a bridge on the outskirts of Vladivostok. Also a train was wrecked by running through a bridge that had been dynamited near

THOUSANDS GIVE PLEDGE TO VOTE AT EACH ELECTION

Chicagoans by the thousand have pledged themselves to exercise the franchise at every primary and election as a result of the citizenship campaign waged by the citizenship committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce, according to Joseph R. Noel, president of the association.
The committee has set its goal at 500,000 pledges and is well on the road to its quota, Mr. Noel states.
"The purpose of the pledging campaign is to bring about a reawakening of civic consciousness," said John P. McGowery, a member of the citizenship committee.
Mansovka, several Japanese officers who were aboard being injured.
Terms Present Rule Unstable.
"We cannot evacuate until a stable government has been established, but Japan does not care whether it is communist or noncommunist, so long as it is a peaceful one."
"As the Tokio government announced last March, the troops will leave the country as soon as the political situation in the border regions is stabilized, the unrest in the territories adjacent to Korea allayed, the lives and property of Japanese residents secured, and communications restored.

"Not only must we have assurances from Chita to this effect, but we must see real progress along these lines before our troops will leave."
"Japan is desirous of resuming trade with and relieving distress in the far eastern republic. In view of this, the attitude recently adopted by the Chita government toward the Japanese merchants is wholly incomprehensible. Japan has never assisted the Merkuloff government, which is composed of reactionary elements, whose fate does not depend on whether Japanese troops remain or go."

Despite this careful statement, translated for this Tribune by Maj. Isobe of the general staff, there are many outward signs that Japan has no intention whatever of evacuating until it has gained concessions worth millions.

Plays Faction vs. Faction.
While dissatisfied with the Merkuloff government, which refuses to deal with Japan, the Japanese are balancing for two definite advantages.
If Semenoff could sign an agreement with Japan as Koichak's successor it would seat him, receiving in return concessions affecting Amur and Saghalin.
But if the Chita government, backed by Moscow, were to sign an agreement, the Japanese believe they could reap more from the latter.
All impartial authorities believe Japan intends holding out until a concession is signed by either side, when it will support the signatory.
Japan's occupation of Siberia with 70,000 troops costs 25 per cent of Tokio's national budget. Corruption among the Japanese officers is alleged to be enormous. Through the playing of one Russian faction against another it is declared huge sums have stuck in the hands of the Japanese military and many have returned to their country rich.

It is generally believed that Japan really sought to set up the Semenoff government, but Semenoff delayed and Merkuloff gained control on May 28. When Semenoff arrived in Vladivostok early last June he found the game was stacked against him. But now Merkuloff is refusing to deal with Japan, so the Japanese are believed to be planning a new coup, some signs of which are already apparent here.

KILLS BABY AND HIMSELF WITH A RAZOR AFTER TRIP

Streator, Ill., July 31.—[Special.]—Ray Detmering, 30, slashed the throat of his 2-year-old baby and then his own with a razor at his home here this morning. Both are dead.
Detmering, a car builder and a giant in stature, returned late last night with his wife and child from an auto trip to St. Paul, where he had recently been working. On the trip he made threats against his family, his widow says.
Mrs. Detmering went to a neighbor's to call a doctor to examine him, first getting his promise that he would not harm the sleeping child.
On her return, five minutes later, she found the child dead and the husband unconscious. His act is attributed to insanity.

LOYOLA U. INSTALLS FATHER AGNEW AS ITS NEW PRESIDENT

The Rev. William H. Agnew, S. J., was installed as president of Loyola university yesterday, succeeding the Rev. John B. Furay, S. J., who resigned to become director of studies in the new University of St. Mary of the Lake at Area, which is to be opened in the fall.
Father Agnew comes to Chicago from St. Louis, Mo., where he was editor of the Queen's Work, a religious monthly.
His present appointment is for six years.
Father Agnew was born in Westphalia, Kas., in 1881. He entered the Jesuit order in 1900. He has served on the teaching staff at St. Ignatius' college, and as president of Loyola university he will be in charge of St. Ignatius' college at 1076 West Roosevelt road, the Loyola University School of Medicine on Lincoln street, the Schools of Law and Sociology in the Ashland block, St. Ignatius' High school on the west side, and Loyola academy in Rogers Park.

An Appreciation

August Actual Cost Sale

Manufacturing at actual cost to avoid the usual mid-summer lay-off of our help

To the Employes of the Royal Sunshine Tailor Shops

BOYS AND GIRLS of the Royal Family: We'd be mighty dense and cold-blooded if we failed to appreciate that you've had a lot to do with the tremendous success of our Retail business in Chicago.

It is your nimble fingers, your artful shears, your skilled craftsmanship and pride in your jobs that have made Royal clothes the talk of Chicago.

And now we have a special opportunity to show our appreciation to you in a substantial way.

You know that in August most tailor shops usually work their shop folks on part time—indeed, some close down completely. For men are slow to buy wool suits in the torrid dog days. So most clothiers and tailors simply "mark time," awaiting the opening of the Fall season.

But this August we're going to offer our tailoring service to men in Chicago at a price so low that not even a merciless thermometer can make them resist.

We're going to lop off every penny of profit—making our offer so alluring to thrifty clothes wearers that the pot of industry will boil at full steam in every Royal shop—and every Royal craftsman will carry home his normal "busy-season" pay envelope.

This isn't all philanthropy, either.

We figure that it costs us less to make a lot of clothes at cost than to make a few at a profit.

There is the usual overhead to be met in our shops whether we do any business or not. And if we keep busy we cover that overhead—while at the same time doing a mighty big favor for you.

That's sound business, isn't it?

And a mighty big favor for Chicago clothes buyers, too.

The suits we offer this month will not be made from the remnants we offered last month. Those remnants are cleaned out. But this month we're cutting into some of our finest stock—our reserve woolsens—to keep our shops going.

And quoting the actual bone cost of production price of $27 a suit or overcoat.

Chicago men have never had a clothes bargain to equal this. We're giving all our August profits to them—so as to give a full pay envelope to you.

Special for August

During August, to keep our employes pay envelopes filled, we will build to customer's special order the finest custom tailor clothes at the bone-cost of manufacture

See CHICAGO'S LAKE SHORE AND THE GOLD COAST FROM THE DECK OF A MOTOR BUS

THE beautiful North Shore with its wide boulevards and parkways is a sight well worth seeing. Leaving the Loop on a GREEN and YELLOW Bus and passing north in Michigan Boulevard over the new double deck bascule bridge crossing the Chicago River, the Drive stretches north along the Lake Shore. Here one enters Chicago's most exclusive residence section, passing wonderful hotels and costly homes of many of Chicago's leading citizens.

Entering Lincoln Park the view is beautiful to look upon. The Lake Shore with its wide cement beach walk, the Lagoon and Yacht Harbor where the racing yachts and trim cruising private yachts lie at anchor, are attractions of keen interest. The famous statues of Lincoln and Grant are the Mecca of visitors from all parts of the country. The Lincoln Park Zoo offers an opportunity to study a collection of animals and birds unsurpassed in this country. The Conservatory is a favorite retreat of lovers of nature who delight in the study of rare flowers and tropical plants.

Nowhere is there anything comparable with Chicago's Lake Shore, a veritable panorama of everchanging parkways and drives bordered by an expanse of water that completes a picture of unexcelled beauty.

No visit to Chicago is complete without a ride up on deck of one of the new GREEN and YELLOW Busses, Owned and Operated by the Lake Shore Motor Bus Corporation

O'CONNOR SEES HIMSELF FUTURE IDOL OF SCREEN

Reveals Ambition as He Awaits Murder Trial.

There may soon be numbered among our favorite male movie stars one Thomas O'Connor, now a resident of the county jail under indictment for the murder of Sgt. Patrick O'Neill. He is to be arraigned today before Judge Hugo Pam and asked if he intends to plead guilty or not guilty. "Tommy," who has been heralded throughout the country as a desperado of the most dangerous type, yesterday declared himself pleased with his new quarters, which he has previously occupied on several occasions, insisted he would have no trouble proving himself innocent of the murder charge—and then he sprang the movie idea.

No Trouble to Get Job. "I've had so much publicity since the O'Neill affair that I'll have no trouble getting a job as a screen star. You should have seen the way the natives at Hudson, Wis., flocked to the jail to see the 'train robbers.' Everybody, including the mayor and the state's attorney, shook hands with Jimmie Gallagher and me. The girls were very nice to us.

"Some were timid at first and afraid to come near us. They peeked around the corner at us, then, seeing we were harmless, came closer for a good look, and by that time had courage enough to give us a smile. Some, I think, pitied us. Others told us we didn't look like bad guys. Anyway, it was a great event in their lives.

"That train robbery stuff is the bunk, though. I just got into a drunken quarrel with a train porter and fell off the train. I didn't have any guns on me. The police furnished the three revolvers and claim they took them off me. I'd weigh a ton carrying all that artillery with me.

"What right did the St. Paul newspapers have to name me 'Terrible Tommy'? I have been made more notorious than Jesse James, and the only way I can see to take advantage of my newspaper prominence is to let the people see me as I really am, and it's the movies for me."

He'll Sure of Conviction. Assistant State's Attorney Lloyd High, who is to prosecute O'Connor, has a different viewpoint on Tommy's chances of escaping the gallows.

"Judge Pam will set a date for trial today," he said. "Probably about Sept. 1 we will begin the selection of a jury. Three witnesses saw O'Connor yesterday in the state's attorney's office and positively identified him. Their testimony will hang him."

"He felt exultant when Condon failed to identify him as the one who forced him and his wife to drive him in his automobile from the vicinity of the murder to Austin. Condon was the only witness to face him. The others fled into the room without his seeing them. I have had too many experiences with disappearing witnesses in former trials of O'Connor to let him or any one else know who these witnesses are. They'll be in court at the time of the trial and their names will not be made public until then."

Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes, who brought O'Connor back from St. Paul Saturday, declared he is ready to go to trial with him any time.

James Gallagher, who was brought back from St. Paul with O'Connor, was positively identified by Policeman Fred Brunk yesterday as one of the five men who participated in the Dressel State bank robbery last summer. During the holdup Richard Routillard, a depositor, was fatally shot.

"SOUP" IN A LOOP CAFE

Safeblowers made two attempts to rob the Glen Inn, a cafeteria at 35 South Wabash avenue, yesterday. The first attempt yielded them nothing, but they were successful to the extent of several thousand dollars on the second. The robbery was discovered by Harry P. Williams, an electrician, who entered shortly after 3 o'clock. The door of the safe had been blown out and hurled across the room, leaving a wake of broken furniture, steel, glass, and money. Several hundred dollars in currency was left by the robbers in their hurried exit. Detective Sergeants Burns, Donahue, and Teeling found several finger prints. The police think the robbers were amateurs because of the excessive amount of explosive used. The manager, F. W. Bradshaw, could not be located to give an estimate of the money taken.

Canadian Steamer Runs Aground on N. W. Coast

Astoria, Ore., July 31.—A wireless message received by the British vice consul here today said the Canadian government steamer Canadian Exporter was ashore off Wallula harbor, Wash. The tug Wallula has left here to give assistance. Capt. Bradley of the Canadian Exporter reported that the sea was smooth and he believed the vessel would be floated. He had dropped anchor and water ballast was being pumped from the stranded vessel's tanks.

Montana Paper Official's Wife Killed by Lightning

Lewistown, Mont., July 31.—Mrs. Harry E. Lay, wife of the manager of the Democrat-News, Lewistown, was killed this afternoon when she was struck by a bolt of lightning as she left the golf links of the country club near here.

Man, 67, Forges Ford's Name to $9,000 Check

Detroit, Mich., July 31.—A. B. Clark, 67, was arrested yesterday charged with forging the name of Henry Ford as indorser to a check for $9,000. Police say Clark presented the check at a local bank. Clark is said to have admitted the forgery.

SMALL RESUMES TOUR OF STATE HIGHWAYS TODAY

Mortimer Here; Denies Parley on Arrest.

An unfulfilled rumor that Gov. Small and the Sangamon county authorities might come to an understanding whereby the governor could submit to arrest, with the least inconvenience marked yesterday's news of Small's indictment on a charge of embezzling the taxpayers' money.

State's Attorney Mortimer of Springfield was in Chicago yesterday. Mr. Mortimer conducted the Sangamon county investigation of Gov. Small's conduct as state treasurer and probably will prosecute the governor on the charge of stealing state funds as is alleged in the indictments against him.

It was rumored that Mr. Mortimer had come to Chicago with the object of meeting Small and his advisers. Mr. Mortimer was reached in the Stratford hotel.

No Parley With Governor.

"I supposed no one knew I was in Chicago," he said. "But now that I am found out, I must say that my errand here has nothing to do with the indictment of the governor. So far as I know Gov. Small is not in Chicago. If he were here I should not be in conference with him."

The state's attorney said he would return to Springfield after attending to some private matters. He said the legal machinery at the capital is in readiness for the return of the governor and that an arrest at any other place is not considered.

Small to Resume Road Inspection. In the meantime, so far as could be determined, the governor spent the day in his Kankakee residence. It was announced that he would continue his zealous inspection of Illinois roads today. This attention to road building will, in all probability, it was said, require several more days of his time.

BOOZE RING OF U. S. IS DIRECTED FROM CINCINNATI

Lexington, Ky., July 31.—Headquarters of the chief of the alleged United States "bootlegging ring" is in Cincinnati, O., according to a statement issued tonight by J. Sherman Porter, chief prohibition inspector for Kentucky, whose term of office was to expire at midnight.

Illegal liquor transactions in Kentucky, through which the alleged organization has made a profit of more than $2,000,000 in the last year, have been directed personally by the chief of the combine, it is asserted by Mr. Porter.

HARDING LANDS AT PLYMOUTH THIS MORNING

Barnstable Bay, Mass., July 31.—The yacht Mayflower, bearing President Harding and party to the Pilgrim tercentenary celebration at Plymouth, anchored late today off Wind's Neck, at the western entrance to the Cape Cod canal. The Mayflower will proceed through the canal early tomorrow to her anchorage at Plymouth.

This old colony town, as the climax of a year of celebration of the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims, has set tomorrow apart as the day for the principal exercises and prepared to welcome the President as its guest.

The narrow streets are garlanded and arched with streamers; the log cabin that first housed the Pilgrims and children is reproduced, and the graves of the forefathers are marked anew. Heavy thunder showers failed to check the preparations.

Foreign Guests Arrive.
Official guests from countries connected with the Pilgrim history preceded the President. Isaac Foote, deputy mayor of Plymouth, England, was received formally by the selectmen, who made him their guest, when he brought greetings from the mother town. Jonkheer William de Beaufort, chargé d'affaires of the Dutch embassy at Washington, came tonight as the official representative of Holland. In the absence of the British ambassador, Capt. Sydney R. Bayley, naval attaché of the British embassy, came.

When the Mayflower puts into Plymouth bay tomorrow morning it will find anchored the battleships Delaware, North Dakota, and Pennsylvania and the British cruiser Cambrian, sent from Bermuda.

A submarine tender will bring President Harding ashore from the Mayflower. The navy will relinquish its charge to the army at the docks, where Troop C, the crack outfit of the 3d cavalry, will act as his bodyguard.

Will Retrace Old Steps.
The President will leave the line of march two miles from the start and will retrace in a formal pilgrimage the course down Leyden street, first street of the colony, which the forefathers and their families traversed on their way to the church which they built as the ground floor of their fort. From a stand at the foot of Cole's hill, where were buried the first of the Pilgrims who died in the new country, he will review the marching, then attend an informal luncheon at the Samoset house.

Girl Scout officers will have charge of two first aid tents, and members of the first national Girl Scouts' training camp at Loggspend, in this town, will present a birch bark scroll of greeting to Mrs. Harding, who is honorary national president of the Girl Scouts.

Visitors will have an opportunity to see Mrs. Harding wearing for the first time in public her new Girl Scout uniform. The uniform is fashioned along regular lines, but Mrs. Harding, by virtue of her high office, is privileged to wear it with the designation of a staff officer, a gold augelette together with a hat cord of gold.

Late in the afternoon the President will speak to 10,000 persons. After the speech the President will attend an informal dinner.

100 MORE BOYS REGISTERED FOR CAMP ROOSEVELT

Muskegon, Mich., July 31.—(Special.)—One hundred boys, including the Joliet High school band, arrived here tonight by special boat from Chicago for the opening of the third period at Camp Roosevelt. Many people welcomed the boys and visited the camp today. Two hundred boys returned to Chicago Saturday at the end of the period. A large enrollment is promised for the final period. About 450 boys are now in camp.

Retailers in 9 Out of 10 Cities Forget War Is Over

Washington, D. C., July 31.—Retail prices of food increased in nine of ten principal cities from June 15 to July 15, the department of labor announced today. In Detroit prices went up 7 per cent; in Peoria and Providence, 5 per cent; Manchester and New Haven, 4 per cent; Mobile and Savannah, 3 per cent, and in Atlanta and Richmond, 1 per cent. Prices in Little Rock decreased one-tenth of 1 per cent.

BAR BUS LINES, SO MOB ATTACKS TRACTION CHIEFS

Bridgeport, O., July 31.—C. P. Billings, manager of the Wheeling Traction company, and his assistant, Charles Marsh, left here early today after a crowd had dispersed which gathered around the jail in which they were confined last night on a charge of inciting to riot. The two men had been beaten last night by a crowd, and after giving bail had feared to leave the jail until the crowd dispersed.

The attack of the two men here followed the report last night of the arrest of a score of bus drivers at Wheeling, W. Va., operating between the Ohio and West Virginia river points, by special constables on a charge of violating certain sections of the West Virginia state road law.

DISTURBED SLEEPER BREAKS WINDOW.
Edward Kelly, 1430 North Park avenue, was arrested yesterday after shattering a plate glass window at the plant of Hartwick & Sons, dealers in building supplies, 1771 Clybourn avenue. Kelly said some boys annoyed him while he was sleeping.

CONGRESS PLANS QUICK ACTION ON RAILROAD RELIEF

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—Senate and house leaders are planning immediate action on the legislation recommended by President Harding to provide funds for final settlement with the railroads.

The President wants congress to take a recess and is said to have told one of the leaders he would not insist on the railroad legislation before a recess. Whereupon the President was informed that there seemed little likelihood of congress taking any recess on account of the demands for legislation, emanating from the agricultural and other interests.

Representative Winslow, chairman of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, and Senator Townsend, acting chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, have pending before the committees practically identical bills providing for extension of the powers of the War Finance Corporation to meet the railroad situation.

Winslow Bill Provisions.

The Winslow bill provides that securities taken by the President in evidence of railroad indebtedness to the government may bear 6 per cent annually "and in such event shall be received at par less such discount as may, in the opinion of the President, represent the customary and reasonable expense of marketing such bond, note, or security."

be subject to further discount as may be in the opinion of the President, representing the customary and reasonable expense of marketing such bond, note, or other security."

New Finance Body Amendment.

The section of the bill relating to the War Finance Corporation follows:
"Section 2. That the War Finance Corporation as amended, is further amended by adding at the end thereof a new section to read as follows:
"Section 22 (a). The corporation may purchase from the President and the President may sell to the corporation any bonds, notes, or other securities acquired by the President either before or after this section takes effect, under authority of the federal control act, the transportation act, 1920, or the act entitled 'An act to provide for the reimbursement of the United States for motive power, cars, and other equipment ordered for railroads and systems of transportation and for other purposes,' approved Nov. 19, 1919, at an aggregate purchase price not exceeding $500,000,000. Any such securities shall be purchased at the prices, and subject to the discounts, if any, at which acquired by the President.

On Marketing Securities.
"(b). Whenever, in the opinion of the board of directors of the corporation, market conditions justify, any such bonds, notes, or other securities, acquired by the corporation under this section, may from time to time be sold, marketed or disposed of by the corporation at not less than the original cost thereof to the corporation.
"(c). Any such bonds, notes, or other securities, not purchased by the corporation, may, at the request of the President, be sold, marketed, or disposed of by the corporation, as selling agent, at not less than the price at which originally acquired by the President.
"(d). The corporation may employ for the purposes of this section such agents or agencies as it deems necessary.
"(e). The proceeds of all bonds, notes, or other securities, sold by the President to the corporation, or by the corporation as selling agent, shall be a fund to be used by the President for the purposes described in section 202 of the transportation act, 1920."

PLAN ECONOMIES IN GOVERNMENT FOR NEXT YEAR

Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—Rigid economies must be practiced in the next fiscal year. That is the decision of President Harding, who hopes through the activity of Director of Budget Dawes and the committee on reorganization of executive departments, to have government expenses placed upon a normal basis, after the war basis before congress convenes in regular session in December.

Acting upon the President's desire to have taxes reduced and not shifted, and relief given taxpayers, the ways and means committee intends to report a revenue bill which will not raise anything like $4,000,000,000, together with the expected yield from increased custom duties.

The President is reported as saying that the only way to reduce taxation was to reduce expenditures.

HEAD OF RIVAL LEGION WRITES PLEA FOR DEBS

Washington, D. C., July 31.—Marvin G. Sperry, national president of the Private Soldiers and Sailors' Legion, in a letter to President Harding, made public tonight, declared that the "amazing insolence and effrontery of the language used by John G. Emery, commander of the American legion, in his telegram to you on the Debs pardon case, certainly should be sharply rebuked."

"I denounce as absolutely false," Mr. Sperry's letter continued, "the claim of Col. Emery that he 'represents the sentiments of the great mass of ex-service men and women' in his deliberately malicious and misleading statements."

Mr. Sperry referred to Debs as a "peaceful, big-hearted, kindly man, filled with a martyr's enthusiasm, and willing, cheerful in self-sacrifice for the cause of the poor, the helpless, and the oppressed."

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY August Sale of Furniture

If You Need Furniture—Or Will Need It This Year—

BUY NOW

MUCH of the Furniture we are displaying prominently in the August Sale was purchased at the new lowered price levels reached in July Furniture markets. All other Furniture in stock has been marked on the same basis

Bottom Reached, Say Authorities

Furniture authorities tell us that the industry is established so far as prices are concerned; that the bottom has been reached. Certainly prices have declined considerably; for where $1,000 last year would furnish a bedroom complete and well, this year it will furnish both bedroom and dining room.

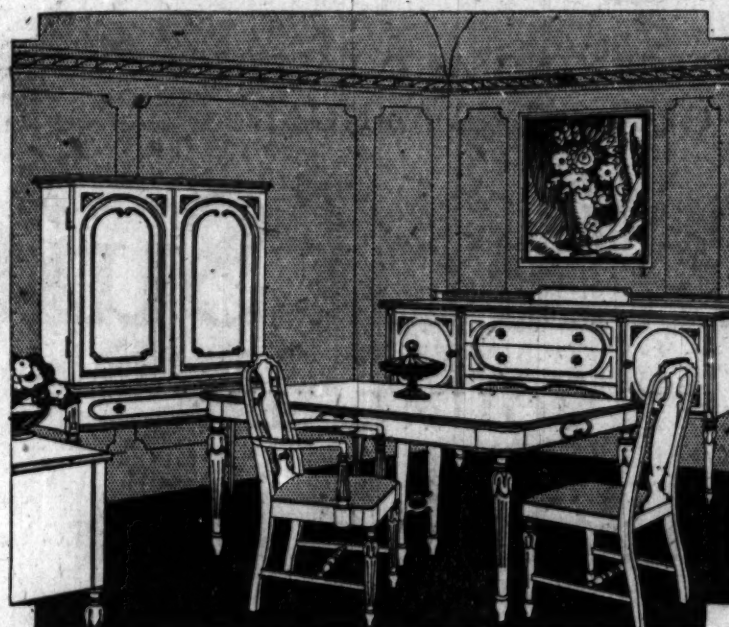

And as for Styles—

In this August Sale we are showing the best selection of new styles we have had in THREE YEARS. There are five new lines of Living Room Furniture; hundreds of new pieces of Summer Furniture, numerous Bedroom and Dining Room Suites. When these novelties are considered in relation to the excellence of our day-after-day selection, ever fresh and new, it is easy to imagine what a remarkable field for the exercise of one's taste this stock furnishes.

Buy Now, Is Advice

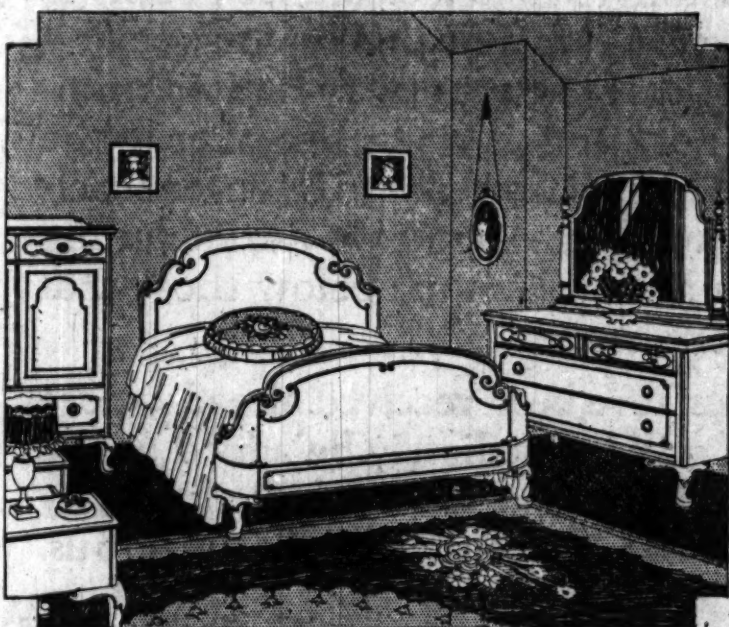

From all we know and can learn about the state of the markets and their probable future state; from all we know about our preparedness for serving our customers with value and with selection, we repeat that it is our opinion that anyone who expects to need furniture this year can do no better than to buy it now.

How to Be Proud of a Dining Room

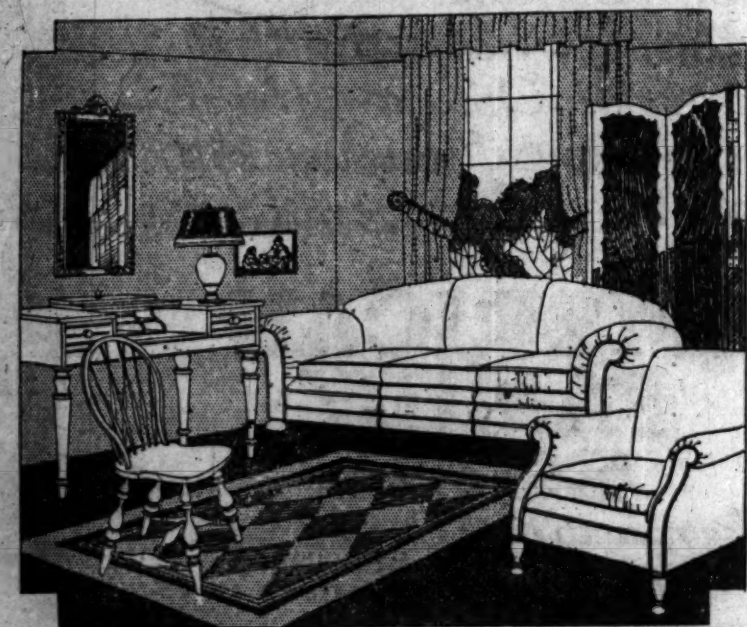

JUST install a Dining Suite which meets all your ideals of stateliness, dignity, beauty, and good taste—perhaps such a one as this Louis XVI design in select mahogany. This one has a Table, round or oblong as one desires, with apron leaves; this with five Side Chairs and an Armchair, seated in blue haircloth, is $275. The Server, $60; China Cabinet, $110; 66-in. Sideboard, $138.

Why Walnut Is Popular Today

SUITES like this one have shown what competent workers can make of the clear grain of American walnut. In the wide, free, open spaces of Bedroom Furniture this grain has full effect; which is one reason why the decoration of this Suite is restrained and simple.

The Dresser, 50 inches wide, is $175; the Chiffonade, $115; Vanity Table, $125. Full-size, round-end Bed, $115; Night Table, $22; Rocker, $23; Chair, $22; Bench, $19.50.

For the Living Room, Beauty and Comfort

FOR the central interest of a distinguished room this Sofa and Chair can be recommended. There is a quiet dignity about their lines—a suggestion of richness in the soft, firm mahogany in which they are covered. Sofa, $210; Chair, $110. Same models, in silk velours, Sofa, $179; Chair, $98; in a good quality of cotton velours, $159 and $79.

The Spinet Desk is of combination mahogany—$59; Chair, mahogany finish, $15.75; Mirror, in polychrome, 12x78 inches, $13.75. The Easy Chair is available in a large assortment of fine mohair covers, $79; velour or tapestry covered, $69.

Grace Characterizes a Light Sofa

WHEN the room is small, and the furniture must bear the burden of making it a thing of decorative beauty, then mahogany and cane is to be trusted. With its light appearance, its slender lines which conceal a world of comfort, a mahogany and cane Sofa is the soul of distinction. This one in assorted covers, $95; Chair, $65.

The Chaise Longue sketched, may be had (cover extra) in velours of various colors and patterns, shown in satin, $55; Stool, $16.75; Armchair, $39.

Our August Sale of Domestic Rugs

DURING this month every Domestic Rug will be substantially reduced, assuring to the customer a notable saving. Owing to the extreme dearth of Domestic Rugs of the better grade, this announcement will be welcomed by all who are desirous of securing such Rugs at prices which reflect the present downward tendencies.

This Sale will also include our entire assortment of seasonable Rugs: Grass, Imported Squares, Fibres, Wool and Fibre, as well as every Rag Rug in our entire stock. Small Rugs of all grades and makes will be especially featured.

Third Floor, South, Wabash and State.

Three Other Important Sales for the Home

Household Utilities

DURING this month many special values in the tools one requires for efficient home-making are on sale—a great many of them selling at new and very low prices.

An effort has been made to provide the most needed, most used utilities among these special values; and to provide them at prices which will afford our customers a very substantial saving in each instance.

More detailed announcements will appear in this evening's News.

Frames—Framing

VACATION snapshots or enlargements, June Brides' pictures, graduation and other pictures should be framed at once, before the dust of the hot-weather period has done its worst. This August Sale, in which a certain percentage of reduction is maintained on all Picture Frames of whatever type, on all work incidental to framing pictures, and on all repair, renovation, restoration and similar work undertaken by our Galleries, provides just the opportunity for having this work done at a saving. (Why not have the pictures at home repaired while the family is away?)

BRIDE-TO-BE GIVES UP LOOT; WEDDING IS OFF

Boy's Confession Leads to Fiancee's Arrest.

The honeymoon plans of Mabel Pier, 18 years old, 229 East 55th place, and Jerry Berthan, alias William Thompson, were blue penciled by the police department yesterday. She turned over to Detectives Farrell, Shee, Huxar, and Schwartz $120 which her youthful fiancé had stolen.

"We were saving it for our marriage," she explained. "He told me his folks had left him a lot of money, I didn't know it came from a robbery."

By Admits "Framed" Robbery.

About ten days ago George Dewey, 18 years old, 7150 South Robey street, employed by a drugist at 1000 West 7th street, was sent to the bank with $1.89 in cash and checks. A short time afterwards he reported that it had been taken from him by a stickup man.

The detectives became suspicious. Every day they questioned George. Finally he confessed the robbery had been framed with Jerry, a former

"He held me up," said George, "and promised to split with me later. But I didn't get any money."

BADGER STATE EXPERTS BOOST ROADSIDE TREES

Farmers' Objections Not Worthy.

BY LEOLA ALLARD.

Madison, Wis., July 31.—Wisconsin road and farm experts are not afraid of roadside tree planting. In fact they say that this farmer cannot offer objections that would overbalance the good these roadside trees would do and they urge the people of the Badger state to come into the great work of planting for America the world's greatest Memory roads.

John A. Hazelwood, chairman of the Wisconsin state highway commission, and F. B. Morrison, assistant director of the Wisconsin State University's agricultural experiment station, both declare trees along the roads here will prevent the snow drifting in winter. "We have to think of snow in this country," said Prof. Morrison. "In Pennsylvania they have planted shrubs and trees to prevent road blocking that they may drive trucks through the roads all winter."

A. R. Hirst, Wisconsin highway superintendent, declared the trees would greatly beautify the country and in no way damage the roads.

The American Legion, the State Journal, Madison's evening paper, and organizations both civic and patriotic in Madison will talk trees and see what can be done to remember the boys who went from Madison to the world war.

Mr. Hazelwood says: "If people only knew the returns the trees bring, not quoted in Bradstreet, not talked in Wall street, but real profit nevertheless, they would not hesitate to hurry their tree campaign. Brownfing told us the truth—Nature never betrays the heart that loves her."

Praises Newspaper Drive.

"Interest in memorial tree planting must be stimulated and it takes the newspapers to do it. Delaware has hired a landscape artist. Other states could profit by that. If such trees as English walnut, apple, plum, cherry, and butternut are planted, no farmer could object, because they do not grow tall. The concrete is cold. They need the warmth that trees give. The important thing is not where a road leads to, or where it comes from, but is it livable where it goes. Roads are decidedly companionable. They talk business every foot of their way. They are authority on the prosperity of their community."

"I have seen," said Mr. Hazelwood, "farmers cutting trees and burning shrubs and I have prayed in my soul that worms would get every apple on their places the next year."

Must Have Lawn.

Other letters from Wisconsin people to this highway official complain that Wisconsin is spending a fortune on roads and allowing ignorant people to wantonly destroy the beauty of a part of the system. "You can't," says one man, "speak to vandals as Mary did to the brook, 'Stop! Stop, pretty brook!'"

Prof. Morrison knows trees, and he knows agriculture, and he knows human nature. "Trees increase the value of farm land," he insisted. "I know I would pay more for a farm that had trees along the roadside. These trees will tend to prevent snow drifting on the roads. That's what the people want. It's one of the problems in this country. In ten or twelve years they will make a decided difference in the road appearance. If the right kind of trees are planted they won't absorb so much moisture from the soil. I have thought nut and fruit trees would be a road blessing, but I doubt if they would withstand American vandalism. Near Madison I saw people tearing cherry trees limb from limb to get cherries."

FIREMEN'S FUND IS NEAR $70,000 GOAL $100,000

The fund for the Firemen's Mutual Aid and Benefit association now totals close to $70,000, and John F. Cullerton, business manager of the fire department, believes the remaining $30,000 will be obtained within a little while.

The three games to be played by teams from the Chicago and New York fire forces, Aug. 10 and 12 at Sox park and Aug. 11 at the Cubs' grounds, will bring in considerable money, it is expected.

"I went to a barbershop yesterday," Mr. Cullerton said. "When I started to pay for my shave the barber gave me $2 and told me to buy tickets for two disabled soldiers who would like to see one of the games. Everybody's helping us."

Illinois Central System Better Service by Co-operating With Public

This is the twelfth in a series of monthly public statements which the Illinois Central System is making through the newspapers on its lines. Each preceding statement has treated of some railway problem of current importance, setting forth information which we believe the public should have and inviting constructive criticism and suggestions. Our aim has been to bring about closer co-operation with the public in such a way as to be reflected in the constant betterment of the service rendered by the Illinois Central System.

Our program was begun September 1, 1920—the day the railroads resumed operations under their own financial responsibilities. The results we have obtained convince us that the plan we have followed has been worth while. We believe that we and our patrons have received, through the better understanding which has been brought about between us, full value for our efforts in newspaper advertising. Consequently we hold it to be our duty to continue to play our part in disseminating information that will give the public a more adequate idea of the problems which railway managements face—which also are the public's problems. We have decided therefore to continue our program another twelve months.

Railway management is the trustee of a vast investment in the railroads, an investment fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission for rate-making purposes at $18,900,000,000, but in reality greater than that, for upon the satisfactory administration of railway properties depends the future welfare not only of the railway properties themselves but also of all the manifold activities of our entire national business life.

We believe the railway problems of the United States require the best and most constructive thought of all the people—farmers, business men, professional men and railway men working in harmony. The railroads are ruled by public opinion. If public thought on railway questions is unprogressive, the railroads cannot make progress, which means that they will not be enabled to meet the constantly increasing demands of public service.

The public is not entirely to blame for such unsatisfactory railway conditions as have obtained in the past. We believe the reticence of railway men themselves, in failing to keep the public well informed, has been one of the causes of the growth of restrictive legislation, of unprogressive regulation and of an anti-railway spirit, which have worked a hardship upon railway development, and consequently upon the public itself.

That our discussions have contributed to a better understanding of railway problems on the part of the public served by the Illinois Central System is evidenced to us in many ways. Not only have our patrons helped us in the solution of many problems which we have presented to them, giving us their hearty support and co-operation in carrying out our programs for better service, but the better mutual understanding which has been awakened—a better understanding on our part of our patrons' problems, and a better understanding on their part of ours—has been reflected in generally improved service. Our discussions have also been a means of perfecting within our organization that spirit of loyalty and service which always has characterized the Illinois Central System.

Railway rates are standardized under governmental authority. Service is the basis of competition among the railroads. Service is the measure which determines the worth of a railway system. Service must be unselfish. It must find expression in safety, efficiency and economy. We pledge our best efforts toward serving the patrons of the Illinois Central System.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.

1921 IS REWARDING FIGHTERS

DEFENSE PLEAS OF "BLACK SOX" TO START TODAY

Case Expected to Reach
Jury Wednesday.

Attorneys representing the seven indicted "Black Sox" and four alleged gamblers who have been on trial before Judge Hugo M. Friend on charges of conspiracy to throw the 1919 world's series, will start their closing arguments today. These, it is expected, will not be completed before tomorrow afternoon. The prosecution will then be heard in rebuttal. The case probably will go to the jury Wednesday afternoon.

Attorney Benedict Short, who will close for the defense, said the state has failed to establish a criminal conspiracy and that he confidently expects acquittal.

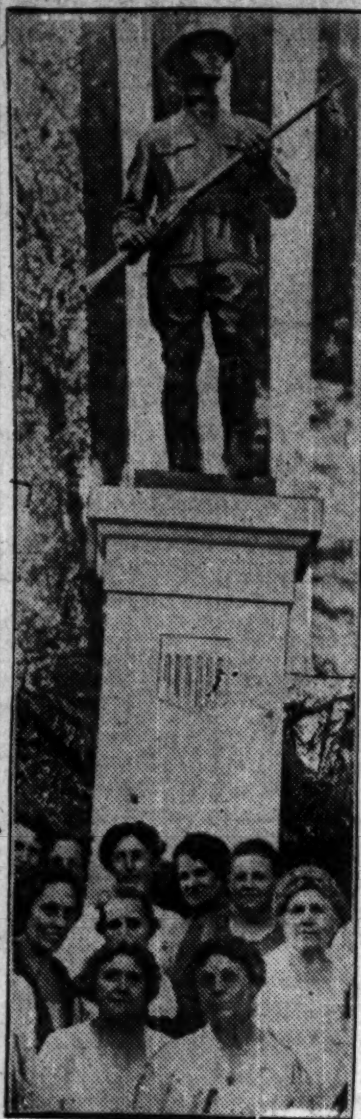

Admits "Agreement" Possible.
"There may have been an 'agreement' entered into by the defendants to take the money offered them by scheming gamblers," said Mr. Short last night. "But it has not been shown the players had any intention of defrauding the public or of bringing the game into ill repute. They believed, we contend, any arrangement they may have made was a secret one, and would, therefore, reflect no discredit on the national pastime, as it would never be disclosed."
"There will be a miscarriage of justice if any of these players are convicted. All of the leading gamblers involved have managed to wiggle out. Certainly these men should not be held."

Mr. Short said he believed the confessions of Jackson, Williams, and Cicotte will be thrown out before the case goes to the jury.

Only Six Defendants Left.

Of the eleven defendants originally on trial, three have been discharged—Carl Zerk and Ben and Louis Levy, alleged gamblers. And Judge Friend has announced he will instruct the jury to find George "Buck" Weaver and Oscar "Happy" Felsch not guilty. This leaves six defendants—Arnold "Chick" Gandil, "Joe" Jackson, "Eddie" Cicotte, Charles "Swede" Rieber, and Claude "Lefty" Williams, former Sox stars, and David Ziser, alleged gambler.

SALUTE!

(TRIBUNE Photo)
MORTON GROVE'S tribute to her forty-two war heroes was unveiled yesterday when Miss Virginia Poehlmann, daughter of the president of the village board, released a huge American flag and revealed the figure of a doughboy standing upon a pedestal. The monument was the gift of the Women's War Working Circle of Morton Grove, which raised the money with card parties and other activities. Yesterday a picnic was held in the village to obtain the balance due. Coroner Hoffman and August Poehlmann were among the speakers.

130 CASUALTIES IN MINNEAPOLIS MANHOLE BLASTS

Minneapolis, Minn., July 31.—Thirty persons were taken to the general hospital, about 100 others were treated elsewhere for minor injuries, and property damage estimated at $50,000 was caused by a series of eight explosions in downtown Minneapolis late last night and early today. None of the injured is hurt seriously and all except one were released from the hospital this afternoon. Most of those hurt were cut by flying glass or were bruised and stunned when thrown to the pavement.

The first explosion occurred shortly after 10:30 o'clock last night, and was believed to have been caused when a short circuit in a power cable manhole at 6th street and Nicollet avenue ignited sewer gas. The manhole cover was blown about twenty feet and flames shot into the air. A number of persons were injured here.

A crowd of several thousand quickly gathered, despite efforts of police and firemen to keep them back. A few moments later another explosion occurred in a manhole across the street. Twenty-five persons were injured in the second blast and had to be taken to the hospital. Other blasts followed at intervals.

RETAIL BUSINESS IN U. S. BETTER DURING JULY

Building Revival Helps Iron and Steel.

Washington, D. C., July 31.—Business reaction in basic lines of industry was reflected during July in volume of business, extent of unemployment, and depression of production, said the monthly review of general economic conditions issued tonight by the Federal reserve board.

Copper and zinc, said to suffer from lack of demand and extreme depression of prices, were mentioned especially. The board declares there has been noticeable improvement in production of

SOCIETY IN LAKE FOREST PLANS FOX HUNT IN SEPTEMBER

Lake Forest society folk are planning a fox hunt, Mrs. Austin Niblack, who originated the idea, will return from abroad soon and it is likely a date early in September will be set for the event.

MRS. AUSTIN NIBLACK.

The dogs and horses are now being trained. On Wentz's has thirty miles of hunting grounds and 150 good jumps.

Midsummer retail business, the board asserted, has been better than usual.

while the outlook for a satisfactory autumn business in a number of lines, such as knit goods and cotton textiles, was declared to be decidedly encouraging. Consumers' demands, as reflected in the volume of retail trade, continued as good as or better than at this time last year.

Continuing prospect of excellent food crops was declared to be the most hopeful feature in the general outlook. Little change in cotton crop was noted, with about two-thirds of last year's production expected.

Price changes during the month have shown no pronounced tendencies towards greater stability. Important declines have taken place in iron and steel and particularly automobiles.

Unemployed Using Savings.

The unemployment situation has remained practically unchanged, according to the review, with labor authorities reporting serious depletion of the savings of men who have been out of work as well as of unemployment funds of trade unions.

Desire to see a resumption of full production apparently has led to operation of some plants on a nonprofit making basis, with wage scales correspondingly reduced or employees working on part time.

Money rates have become distinctly easier, the review continued, but fluctuations in exchange and unstable foreign financial conditions have prevented any material improvement in foreign trade.

TEXTILE STRIKE WORRIES TOKIO; FIGHT AT KOBE

TOKIO, July 31.—[By the Associated Press.]—Six hundred employees of the Tokio Calico Textile company have struck following the rejection of their demands, and it is believed the strike may spread to other similar factories.

The home minister has announced plans for adoption of decisive measures to maintain the public peace. He will not, however, interfere with disputes between the workmen and employers.

Police Battle Strikers.

KOBE, July 31.—[By the Associated Press.]—The labor disputes here are again being marked by bloody fighting. At least fifty persons were wounded and a sanguinary clash occurred today when, disregarding the ban upon any public demonstration, thousands of shipyard strikers paraded to a local shrine, singing labor songs and shouting condemnation of the action of the authorities during yesterday's affair.

The parades were stopped at the temple gate by 600 police, who attacked with sabers and clubs. Many of the workmen were wounded, some seriously. One hundred and fifty infantrymen were called out to reinforce the police.

CAPITAL STOCK TAX LAW LIKE CHINESE PUZZLE

Uncle Sam's Experts Fail to Solve It.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., July 31.—(Special.)—In framing the new revenue bill, members of the house ways and means committee are seeking a solution of problems involving the present capital stock tax, which has been described as "the most uncertain, the most unequal, and the most complicated of the existing federal taxes".

As administered by the internal revenue bureau, the capital stock tax has developed endless complications and litigation. The bureau is now endeavoring to settle disputes involving this tax amounting to many millions of dollars for periods as far back as 1917. While the yield from this tax is not so great as from some others, the difficulties caused both for the bureau and corporations have been innumerable, and some sort of a change, it is expected, will be made in the existing law.

Provisions of Measure.
The present revenue act imposes a capital stock tax on corporations amounting to $1 for each $1,000 of so much of the fair value of the capital stock for the preceding year ending June 30 as was in excess of $5,000. Foreign corporations are taxed on the average amount of capital employed in the transaction of business in the United States.

While this tax on its face might appear to apply to the market value of the shares of stock of a corporation, the basis of the tax has been construed by the internal revenue bureau to be the amount of the net assets of the corporation. Under this ruling corporations and the internal revenue bureau have been at loggerheads over various legal points involved in determining just what the value of the net assets is.

While various proposals have been made relative to the amendment of the section of the revenue act applying to the capital stock tax, many taxpayers hold that the only solution of the difficulties will be found in the entire repeal of the provision. Those who take this view say the corporations are willing to pay an increased income tax in order to make up the loss in revenue.

Proposal by New York Attorney.
A concrete proposal on the subject as presented to the ways and means committee by Hugh Satterlee, a New York attorney, who represents a number of corporations having capital stock tax cases before the internal revenue bureau, and who himself formerly was connected with the bureau and had a hand in the preparation of regulations for the administration of the tax, is that the flat income tax rate on corporations shall be increased by 1 per cent, or such other percentage as shall be sufficient to raise the necessary amount.

The capital stock tax yielded in the fiscal year 1920 about $93,000,000.

ALGONQUIN FUND AGAIN HELPED BY ETAOIN CLUB

Girls Wait on Selves;
Contribute "Tips."

BY REV. G. A. MAC WHORTER.
Hurrah for the girls of the Etaoin club, who have sent in their second contribution this month for Camp Algonquin—a check for $4.56. The Etaoin club, of which Anna Garrow, the World's Greatest telephone supervisor, is the president, has a delightful luncheon on the top floor of the Tribune building, and in a prominent place on the cashier's desk is a little box labeled "For the poor mothers and children of Chicago. Drop your change in this box for the Camp Algonquin and Tribune free ice funds."

Instead of "tipping" the waitress, all tips go into this box; for everybody waits upon herself in the Etaoin club. Not a bad idea for other lunch clubs to follow.

Elcar Price and Design Are Now Stabilized

Price Lower Than Ever Before.
Design Better Than Ever Before.

The prices and the specifications tell the story better than adjectives. The Elcar is priced several hundred dollars lower than other cars of similar specifications.

Take our De Luxe Six models, for instance. The open models sell for $1595.00 f. o. b. Elkhart, Ind. The specifications consist of the famous 7R Red Seal Continental motor; Delco ignition, lighting and starting; Stromberg double adjustment carburetor; Willard battery; Salisbury axle; Gemmer steering gear; Firestone cord tires, 33x4 inches; genuine leather upholstery; Stewart speedometer, and other parts of similar excellence.

Every one of these statements can be proven. All you have to do is to compare the prices and specifications with other cars. If they have the same specifications as the Elcar, they cost more.

If they cost the same, the specifications of the other cars are different. A glance at our entire line shows astonishingly low prices for all models.

More than 200 Elcar taxicabs ($2500 f. o. b. Chicago) are running thousands of miles daily on Chicago streets. This fact alone shows the class of the Elcar.

THE MOST REASONABLY PRICED FINE CAR EVER MADE

SERVICE FIRST

Make Telephone Calls to Near-by Towns by Number

The Illinois Bell Telephone Company has established "express" toll telephone service to seventy-seven places near Chicago, to and from which calls may be made in the same manner as Chicago city calls. These places include:

Aurora	Great Lakes	Matteson
Batavia	Hammond	North Chicago
Chicago Heights	Highland Park	Rockdale
East Chicago	Highwood	St. Charles
Elgin	Indiana Harbor	Steger
Gary	Joliet	Waukegan
Geneva	Lake Bluff	Wheaton
	Lake Forest

(A complete list of express points appears on Page 13 of the Chicago telephone directory.)

To make a call to a telephone in any of these places, give the number to the operator and hold the line until the called telephone answers. If you do not know the number, ask your operator to connect you with "Information."

In calling these places do not ask for "Long Distance" unless you wish to talk to some particular person and to no one else.

Before you place a call for a point within fifty miles of Chicago consult the list of "express" points in the directory. By calling by number you will obtain quicker connection with the telephone wanted and the cost will be less.

In a great majority of cases either the particular person wanted is to be found at the called telephone or some one else can answer the call just as well.

ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

Home (?) Circulation

WITHIN the last two weeks a certain Chicago evening newspaper has been advertising that its "readers buy and take home" its "400,000 daily circulation."

This newspaper is printed in seven editions during the morning and afternoon. Editions appear at 8:40, 9:45, 11:20, 1:30, 3:30, 4:30, and at the close of ball games. More than half the total run is out before 2 o'clock in the afternoon!

How many people buy more than one edition of this paper?

In how many homes is it bought by more than one member of the family?

How many purchasers of the morning editions of this "evening" newspaper (with their old markets and ancient sport news) treasure them all day and carry them home at night?

In short, where are the facts to back up the claim that 400,000 people "buy and take home the —"?

P.S. The average total daily circulation of this paper in June was less than 393,000.

The Only Way to Perfect Shoes

Every foot—like every face—is different—never are two created alike.

Shoes that are perfect—that fit perfectly to every contour of the foot—giving ample comfort and smart appearance—can be made in only one way.

The McNiff method of moulding an exact last of the foot, selecting the finest leathers, and then fashioning the shoes by hand results in footwear—perfect, not only in comfort and wear—but in standards of fashion as well.

Women of judgment are invited to view the new fall models especially created for clients' inspections.

To the Manufacturer Who Needs a New Type of SALES MANAGER

Most every manufacturer today needs to make more sales. Some are able to do this because they have a sales manager who knows how to secure turnover from the retail trade in the face of a falling price market.

My entire experience has been along the lines of securing increased distribution and increased turnover per dealer. Have had 12 years' executive sales experience with nationally advertised lines. Have been in touch directly and indirectly during this period with many big business successes and have been able to gather together a fund of invaluable practical sales information and experience.

Am at present engaged, but wish to connect with a rising manufacturing concern, not too large, where the opportunity to progress is unlimited and where my services will be rewarded by something other than salary.

Am 35 years of age, married and with a family, and for personal reasons would not leave Chicago.

An interview is requested.

ILLINOIS FARMS LOSE IN NUMBER, GAIN IN VALUE

Worth $6,666,767,235
Now, Census Report.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Illinois farms increased $2,761,446, 400 in value during the last decade. In 1920 the value of all farm property in the state was $6,666,767,235; in 1910 it was $3,905,321,075, according to figures issued last night by the bureau of the census.

During the ten years, the number of farms decreased 5.3 per cent, the total acreage 1.7 per cent, and the improved acreage 2.7 per cent. But the value of the farm property as a whole increased 70.7 per cent, land and buildings increased in value 70.3 per cent, livestock 41.1 per cent, and implements and machinery 30.2 per cent.

The Change in Forty Years.
Here's a forty year comparison: Illinois now has 18,560 fewer farms than in 1880, it has about the same area of land in farms as in 1880, and about a million more acres of improved land. The population of the state in the forty years has more than doubled—it is now 4,485,330—and the value of farm property throughout the state is almost six times what it was in 1880. Forty years ago the average value of a farm was $4,598; in 1920 it was $35,104.

Tenantry is increasing, but not as rapidly as some have imagined. In 1920, 41.7 per cent of the farmers were tenants, as against 41.4 per cent in 1910. Forty years ago, in 1880, 31.4 per cent were tenants. During the last ten years, as land values went up and the use of machinery increased, the apparent tendency has been toward farm marginality. Ten years ago the size of the average Illinois farm was 129.1 acre.

In 1920 it was 134.8 acres, the highest since 1880.

Increase in Farm Managers.
One significant fact is that the decrease of 14,691 in the total number of farms during the last decade was most largely a decrease in farms operated by owners. In the ten years, while the number of farms operated by tenants decreased 3,183, those run by owners decreased by 12,533. Farms operated by managers increased by 1,026.

In 1920, 89.1 per cent of the land and area of the state was in farms and 85.4 per cent of the farm land was improved, as against 90.7 per cent and 86.2 per cent, respectively, in 1910.

Census Bureau's Statistics.

ENVOY HERRICK FINDS HOUSES DEAR IN PARIS
PARIS, July 31.—Like all his predecessors in Paris and most of his American fellow sufferers in the diplomatic service, United States Ambassador Myron T. Herrick has no place to return the many social favors that a man in his social position can not possibly dodge, unless he spends at least 1,000,000 francs of his own money, for a house.
Congress has appropriated $150,000 for a house to be occupied by the American ambassador, but that amounts to less than 1,000,000 francs at the present exchange and the only suitable houses are held at from 3,000,000 to 10,000,000 francs.
At present the ambassador is living with his son, Farnesio Herrick. But their lease expires in the autumn and the house is too remote from the center of affairs to be the ambassador's official home in winter.
The ambassador is bothered by his inability to repay hospitality. He is continually being invited to week-ends and other social affairs and naturally desires to return these compliments.

TWO WOMEN BE QUESTIONED ON KOLZE

Coroner to Test Body for Arsenic

Mrs. Frieda Demmer died today by Asphyxiation, Lloyd Heth, death of Fred Kolze, who died after being shown that she, Heth, had died from arsenic. A third body, that of a husband of Mrs. Frieda, died eight years, in as soon as Coroner P. can obtain the legal it from the cemetery Arsenic poisoning is his case.

Mrs. Alvina Spring was made public yesterday Hoffman as a drinker, so is to be questioned.

WOMEN TO BE QUESTIONED ON KOLZE DEATHS

Coroner to Test Third
Body for Arsenic.

Mrs. Frieda Demmer will be questioned today by Assistant State's Attorney Lloyd Hoffmann concerning the deaths of Fred Kolze and his wife, Mrs. Kolze, whose bodies, exhumed last week after being buried eight years, were found to contain arsenic.

A third body, that of John Demmer, husband of Mrs. Frieda Demmer, also exhumed eight years, is to be exhumed as soon as Coroner Peter M. Hoffman can obtain the legal right to remove it from the cemetery in Colby, Wis. Arsenic poisoning is also suspected in this case.

Mrs. Anna Springborn, whose name was made public yesterday by Coroner Hoffman as a close friend of Kolze, was to be questioned by Hoffmann.

Valued Kins During Illness.

"Mrs. Springborn came to see Mr. Kolze quite often during his last illness," Mrs. Demmer said. "Of course, I paid no attention to it."

Mrs. Springborn, who has known Kolze since their childhood days, is thought by Assistant State's Attorney Hoffmann to have been an unsuspecting part of the plot.

No Tangible Clue to Motive.

No anything tangible in the way of a motive for the murders of Mr. and Mrs. Kolze, eight years apart, and the possible murder of John Demmer, husband of Kolze's housekeeper, has yet been obtained by Coroner Hoffman.

The nature of the poison, arsenic, is such, he declares, that a little administered in food or drink each day will kill a few months. The poisoner, therefore, Mrs. Hoffman said, must have been intimate with both Kolze and his wife and have been able to administer to them to their food and drink.

FOUR DAYS' WORK
BY DETECTIVE
SOLVES MURDER

Detective Vincent Skiba of South Chicago station "cleaned up" a murder case in four days, and last night, after the death of two prisoners had confessed, he said, "It was very simple."

Tuesday morning John Joseph Skiba, both of 253 Brandon avenue, was shot through the head. His bedroom window was open. The doors were locked from the inside, but the murderer might have climbed a ladder to the window.

Skiba began his investigation Wednesday afternoon. He says he found Laskowski had been in partnership with Joseph Spira and Michael Skiba, both of 253 Brandon avenue, in the bootlegging business. He learned Laskowski had been forced out of the partnership and had informed on his former friends.

"So it was simple," Skiba said. "I found the two partners. Mike has confessed, saying Joe fired the shot. He said they bought the gun in a west side pawn shop, and told where he hid it and the extra cartridges. Joe hasn't admitted anything yet."

Fire Dealers Will Hold
Annual Outing Thursday

The Chicago Fire Dealers' association, composed of over 125 fire dealers, will close their stores on Thursday and hold their annual outing at Stuckey Park grove.

FARM AND GARDEN
CHECKING SWEET CLOVER SEED WASTE

Hundreds of dollars could be added to the middle west farmers' bank accounts this fall if they will use extra precaution to prevent the waste of sweet clover seed while harvesting and thrashing the crop. The ordinary grain binder is used in harvesting sweet clover. The seeds are small, shatter easily, and many bushels are lost in cutting unless some device is provided to catch the seeds as they fall from the canvas of the binder.

The best practice is to cut as high as possible and at the same time clip all of the branches that bear seed. This method of cutting is recommended by all reliable sources, because where all stubble can be left, grain saving losses may be attached to the binder to catch most of the seeds as they shatter and fall from the canvas.

One of the best grain saving boxes, in the opinion of the writer, is the one that is a foot long, fourteen inches wide, and nine inches deep. This is attached to the open space at the right of the wheel of the binder, just below the rollers. Then two galvanized iron sheets are bent and attached in such a manner that they direct the scattered grain into the galvanized box. One of these sheets is fastened where it will catch the shattering grain that falls from the rollers where the clover goes over to the binder deck, and the other about two or three inches below the lower edge of the binder deck to catch the seeds that fall as the bundles are kicked off. These seeds, that would be otherwise wasted, may be directed to the galvanized box.

Seeds caught in the galvanized box must be scattered out where they will dry to prevent spoiling. Unnecessary drying and shattering of the seed may be prevented by capping the shocks. Eight bundles in a place makes a good sized shock and if properly capped the shocks do not dry out as rapidly. It is best to thrash sweet clover soon after it is fully dry, but it should be allowed to stand through at least one week of dry weather. Canvases used on the wagons in hauling the grain to the thrasher prevent an enormous waste of sweet clover seed that is beaten out in loading.

It is a most unusual animal, because it likes to take its children wherever it goes. Wise nature made provision for it, too. The mother kangaroo is provided with a

LIFE GUARD, TWO CANOEISTS, AND SWIMMER SAVED

William Blafuss, a life guard at Clarendon beach, rescued Francis Allen, 1522 North Hamilton avenue, and R. E. Stoffel, 1039 North Davis street, yesterday when their canoe capsized a mile off shore.

The two men clung to the sides of the overturned craft until Blafuss arrived. Boats from the three beaches in the vicinity were sent out to aid in the rescue.

Harry Wall and four other life guards at the 75th street beach saved Alex Benson of 7226 Blackstone avenue and Bonnie Diech, a fellow life guard, from drowning when they were gripped in the undertow. Diech answered Benson's call for help, but was himself caught.

Three armed young men were arrested by River Forest police early yesterday morning after they had robbed Walter Freutel and Rose Costello of $30 and jewelry valued at $1,950.

The three jump from an automobile near Thatcher road and North avenue, held up the couple, and disappeared.

Chief Frank W. Lantz and two policemen traced them to a poolroom in Melrose Park, where they spied a man showing a revolver to a group at the cigar stand. Edward Nutmeyer, 21, and Charles Martino, 18, of Melrose Park, and Albert Pettit, 23, of Bellwood admitted being members of the holdup gang. They named three other associates for whom the police are looking.

STEPS IN FRONT OF FREIGHT CAR
AND IS KILLED

John Roma, 45 years old, 7448 South Western avenue, an oil employee at the Wabash railroad, was killed Saturday when he was run over by a freight car in the yards at West Forty-sixth street. He had been darning journals of a freight car and stepped on the next track in front of a car being switched.

Boy Shoots Self Fatally;
Accident, Relative Says

Returning from church yesterday, Thomas Fitzpatrick found his nephew, Roy Johnson, 18, on the bathroom floor at 7848 South Morgan street, with a revolver with one discharged cartridge nearby. He died at Auburn Park hospital. The uncle accused the idea of suicide, asserting the boy must have shot himself accidentally. The boy's father lives at 6315 South Green street. His mother is dead.

BOY'S BODY FOUND IN ALLEY.

A girl baby, about 8 months old, was found dead, wrapped in a bar, in an alley back of 1543 Tull place yesterday. Local William Malone of West Chicago avenue station believes the child starved to death.

"THE POLITE 4" MAKE THEIR BOW AS HOLDUP TEAM

Drive Victims Home, Then Steal Their Auto.

Courtesy pays, it is alleged by our foremost homely manufacturers and Pollyannists, unless one aspires to be a successful traffic cop or hotel clerk.

Four Chicago bandits, having been grounded in chivalry and politeness, are now starting out on a career which promises a brilliant future. They may even hope to become leaders in their profession because of correct home training when young.

As yet they are unendowed with revolvers, but they are well versed in the technique of their calling. Late Saturday night, when they leaped upon the running board of a machine driven by Earl H. Perkins of 10244 Longwood drive, son of Percy O. Perkins of the Chicago Title and Trust company, their hats were drawn over their faces and their coat collars were turned up in approved road agent fashion.

"Kindly Elevate Your Hands," said one firmly, yet gently. Miss Beale Merwin, fiancée of Mr. Perkins, did the bidding, emitting the usual soprano scream.

"That," remonstrated a bandit, "was entirely uncalled for, lady. You don't need to be alarmed. We'll not harm you if you just keep quiet."

Thereupon they extracted $17 from the person of Mr. Perkins and requested him to retire from the drivers' seat.

"Where do you live, lady?" inquired one of the quartet, taking the wheel.

"Six-four-eight-two South Bishop street," said Miss Merwin.

Escort Their Victims Home.

The encounter had occurred at Kedzie avenue and 67th street. During the ensuing travel, it is said, the bandits discussed Chesterfield and delved into the more chivalrous aspects of Robin Hood and Jesse James.

Arriving at the Merwin menage, the young lady and her escort were helped to alight. One young man inquired the telephone number of Mr. Perkins.

"We shall need your car for a time," he said. "When we are through with it we will notify you of its location."

Then the four gravely tipped their hats and drove away. The machine was subsequently found at Archer avenue and Loomis street and had apparently been in an accident.

MOTHER AND TWO CHILDREN HURT IN MOTOR COLLISION

Mrs. R. G. Berberich, 1043 Lill avenue, and her two small children were injured yesterday when an automobile driven by Frank Wischick of 1417 Dodge avenue, Evanston, crashed into the one piloted by her husband. Wischick was arrested, charged with driving while intoxicated.

The accident occurred at Lake street and Forest avenue, Evanston. Ten-year old Marie Berberich was knocked unconscious by a blow on the head, while her mother and 6-year old brother suffered body injuries.

Louis Melius, owner of an out of town newspaper stand in the loop, was driving east in Washington boulevard when a street car crossed his path at Kedzie avenue. The motorist applied the brakes. So did Melius, but he was too late. His machine crashed into the car and was demolished. The impact threw Melius and his companion, an attorney named Greenberg, under the street car. The latter was stopped just in time to save the two men from being run over.

A picnic truck driven by Harry Marzen, 1629 South Clifton Park avenue, was knocked into a ditch last night near Forest Glen, when the touring car of Tony Domitowski, 1521 North Paulina street, collided with it. Mrs. Abraham Fox, 1032 Almond street, one of the occupants, was attended by Dr. L. E. Dougherty of the Shakespeare avenue police hospital.

Miss Mildred Wikstrand, 4911 North Seelye avenue, student—

I prefer the month of June for my vacation, because I like to visit in the north of Wisconsin about that time of the year. I generally start my vacation when the school term ends the latter part of June.

Edward Fontaine, 4405 Hazel avenue, clerk—Give me the month of August for my vacation and I am satisfied. A fellow can attend the ball games, go swimming at the numerous beaches in the city, and in general have an all around good time. I spend my vacation in the city. One can have as good a time here as at any summer resort.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The story in the Sunday sporting section on the Chicago river mara has stated that M. F. Hammond coached Ranger Mills, winner of second place in the event. Leo P. Hogan states that he coached Mills at Great Lakes and also that he coached Mills during the swim.

On July 29 THE TRIBUNE printed a picture. "Recalling a Royal Romance." The name of the slipper bearer was shown as June Rossall. The correct name is June Rossall.

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

(Copyright: New York Tribune, Inc.)

MEN ARE LIKE THAT

BY CLARA E. LAUGHLIN

SALLIE'S AGENT IS ANNOYED.

Linda was, of course, definitely through with interior decorating as a career, except for Jay. And so, too, was she through with what she termed petty economy. All that concerned her now was to stretch what remained of her twelve thousand dollars over the period pending her marriage.

So Linda and Millie busied themselves with restoring the big room to their taste and needs, while Sallie plunged into preparations for "Uncle Sam's Girl," which was to be in no sense a musical comedy, but a comedy with music—just enough music in it to appeal to the large public which includes so many committed to the belief, "no music, no show."

Sallie was, of course, to do her stunt—the play was built around that—and she was to do as much of it as possible in song, or at least to the accompaniment of music. But the fact that she had done her stunt innumerable times, and before audiences larger and more difficult than any she would confront in the theater, did not mean that she needed no study, no rehearsing, on that point. She needed a great deal.

She could not, however, have had a better coach. Lester had been stage manager for many of the best English actor managers, and had not only the ability to do excellent work in the theater, but the much rarer ability to direct how desired effects should be attained. He marveled at Sallie's energy and application; at her docility and her aptitude.

The Prince's reply to them was characteristically hearty. "The best of luck to you both," he said, "and don't hesitate to make use of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales. Hope you'll bring the show to London, which will, probably, be my only chance to see it. I understand that a milliner in New York has his lift boy, who resembles me, dressed in a naval uniform like one of mine, and the lift decorated like the bridge of a ship, or something like that. I've thought what a lark it would be to have his job for a day, and hear what people might say about Wyles in the presence of his supposed counterfeit. And you may be sure I've not failed to think what fun it would be to go on, one night, and play Wyles with you both. Butcher an idea, that! We all, I daresay, get tired of our parts; of course, we all play others, at times, even if only in our imaginations and for ourselves as audience, but it would be an experience, wouldn't it, to play the part of some one who was representing us? I should do it badly, no doubt, and it would be a shockingly unlike a prince, and I should be vastly amused by it all. The whole plan is awfully jolly, it seems to me, and I'm glad to be a part of it, even if only by proxy."

Ben Lester had taste and discretion. He knew what advantage could be taken of the Prince's personality and his good natured interest, and where the lines should be drawn. He had many a bout with the librettist, but he never yielded an essential point.

Sallie was learning a good deal about the stage from Lester, and from sundry other persons she was learning a good deal about the theater as a business.

The situation was peculiar; it was not a case of her getting the chance to play the lead in a comedy which would, if she failed, go on perfectly with some one else in the principal role; the thing was being built about her and about her not as an artist or favorite of known qualities, of some following, but as an unknown quantity, supposedly interesting because she had interested the Prince of Wales. If she failed, the show failed; this was impressed upon Sallie many times a day.

Jay Sudduth was backing the venture; Hal Ryker was producing it; Everett Longman was staging it; and Lester was directing the acting.

"One would think," Sallie exclaimed one day in a conference about the publicity campaign, "that I had no interest in the success of this thing! If it fails, is anybody going to lose more, be more humiliated, than I?"

"There's no question," Corydon, who was sitting in the council, assured her, "of your interest. But what are you willing to do to win? Just work won't take the trick. You can hold a handful of trumps and play 'em wrong, a bad loss. You've got to know the game. You don't know it, but you have backers and advisers who do. You're no favorite, but they're playing you to win."

"Now here's the best publicity stuff anybody's had in years. That's the big reason you get this chance. You can't afford to hamper your press agent. Let him whoop it up!"

"I don't want to hamper him," Sallie declared, trying to keep her voice steady, though aware that two flaming spots in her cheeks must proclaim how far from cool she was within. "But I decline to have stuff like this," pointing to some typewritten sheets on the table in front of her, "appear in print. It isn't true."

The press agent, noted for his success in landing front page stuff, cast at Corydon a look of tragicomic despair. Could anything be funnier and at the same time more maddening than a girl in Sallie's position wishing to limit her press agent to the truth?

Ryker rose impatiently from the table and walked to his desk, where he seated himself and drummed nervously with his fingers on the shining surface. The rat-tat-tat of his nails said plainly that this was what one might expect in dealing with an amateur, and he had been a fool to get into it.

Sudduth frowned, not menacingly, but fearfully.

Corydon smiled, trying to convey the effect of patience.

"If his Royal Highness," he said, "were as fussy as you, he wouldn't be the good advertiser for the British empire that he is now. Probably not one per cent of the stuff that's printed about him is true. Now, there's nothing in Mr. Doremus' stories anybody ought to object to."

"He intimates that the Prince wanted to marry me, and that was why he was sent packing off to Australia."

"Well, what of it? Have you can you be sure the Prince didn't think it would be nice to marry you instead of some princess with a hare lip or a golfer or a crossed eye?"

"I'm quite sure he never thought about it at all," Sallie replied, warmly.

"Pipe" Doremus bounced out of his chair.

"I'm through!" he cried, grabbing for his hat.

He dashed toward the door, with an effect of precipitation, but without too much speed to preclude his recall.

"Remember how new to all these ideas Miss Sallie is."

Sallie re-read the offending article. It certainly conveyed the impression they wanted to give, but it was admittedly worded so as to be quite safe from authoritative denial.

"I assure you, Miss Sallie," Corydon went on, when he saw that she was through reading, "that his Royal Highness' sense of humor would be much more tickled by Sallie than yours seems to be. He's a man of the world."

"I wish I had realized what this game involves!" Sallie cried passionately. "If I had, I'd never have got myself let in for it."

U. S. EDICT GIVES UNIONS VOICE IN RAIL WORK RULES

Labor Board Voids Act of Pennsy Road.

Without commenting specifically on the open shop issue, the United States railroad labor board, in a decision made public yesterday, overruled the contention of Pennsylvania railway officials that their employees' representatives should be selected by a "popular vote" of the workers, regardless of union affiliations. It repudiated elections already held, and ordered a new one, prescribing the manner of voting.

The decision obviously aims to end strife between the Pennsylvania lines and the shop crafts unions, without supporting the stand of either party to the dispute. The railroad had frankly contended for the open shop; while the Pennsylvania system federation, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, had maintained that its general chairman should represent the shop crafts in all negotiations between employees and road officials.

Particular significance attaches to the ruling, in view of the recently expressed determination of Pennsylvania executives to deal directly with their employees. In this declaration the rail officials virtually discounted the power of the labor board to prevent such negotiations.

Holds Roads' Rules Void.

The immediate purpose of the decision is to determine the manner in which employees' committees to negotiate working rules to replace the national agreements established under federal control shall be selected.

The Pennsylvania, ostensibly carrying out the order of the labor board for conferences with its employees on new rules, held a general election. The ballot supplied by the company designated no organizations. Votes were to be cast for individuals only. The union men refused to vote the company ballot. Instead, they issued one on which their men could vote for the federation or any other organization or individual.

The Pennsylvania refused to deal with any committee other than those named on its own ballot. With these it negotiate certain rules, which have been put into effect. The board's decision declared these rules void. It will recognize only such rules as may be negotiated by committees to be elected as it now prescribes.

Fixes Rules for Election.

Accompanying the railroad labor board decision is a form ballot for use in the new election. On this the employees may return, as their representatives, the Pennsylvania system federation, the American Federation of Railroad Workers, or any other organization or individual. A majority vote is to prevail.

The method of holding the new election, according to the board order, is to be determined at conference to be held on or before Aug. 10. These are to be attended by representatives of the road, of the Pennsylvania system federation, of any other organization having shop crafts members and authorized to function as a labor body, and any other representative authorized in writing by no less than 100 unorganized employees.

"Quibbling Almost Treason."

The decision expressed impatience with quibbling over technicalities, saying that "at a time when the nation is slowly and painfully progressing through the consequences of industrial depression, unemployment and unrest, it is almost treasonable for any employer or employee stubbornly to haggle over nonessentials at the risk of social chaos."

The dispute between the Pennsylvania road and the system federation arose shortly after the labor board last April ordered all roads to negotiate substitute working rules with their employees. The federation, comprising the six shop crafts unions, authorized its general chairman to conduct the negotiations. The Pennsylvania, would not deal with them.

Road's Action Not Justified.

Referring to the election conducted by the railroad, the board's decision says: "The carrier was not justified in refusing to place on the ticket the name of the organization (the system federation). The granting of this request would have avoided all trouble. If the majority of the employees had not wanted to be represented by that organization, they would have had the unobstructed right to say so."

It was reported that refusal of the majority of the labor board members to meet the open shop issue squarely occasioned a session, which, however, was not made a matter of record.

MOLLY X: X-RAYS AND RADIUM are not considered as satisfactory as electrolysis for the removal of superfluous hair. The trouble with X-rays and radium is that while they will do the work, if the dose is ample to remove the hair permanently the chance is that the skin will suffer. If too much electricity is used, blisters and scars result; if too little, the hairs regrow. So, you see the need of a skillful operator.

The delightful cuisine, quiet and cool surroundings, add much to comfort and enjoyment. Service from 8:30 a. m. to 5:15 p. m.

Eighth Floor.

During August, Reductions in Picture Framing

Reductions are also in effect upon the regilding of frames, the cleaning and restoring of paintings.

Workmanship of the highest order is available to those who take advantage of the August pricing.

Fifth Floor, North.

All Curtains Reduced

For the August Sale

Every pair of curtains in our stocks is extremely reduced in price for this sale.

Novelty Net Lace Curtains At $6.25 Pair

Two hundred pairs, made from all-over imported nets, with band edged in lace.

Ruffled marquisette curtains, with three-inch ruffles. Each set consists of one pair of hemmed curtains and ruffled loop bands. $4.25 set.

Ruffled Cross-Barred Voile Curtains, $3.95

Each curtain has a nine-inch flounce at the bottom, and the entire curtain, including the flounce, is edged with a two-inch ruffle, with ruffled loop bands, $3.95 pair.

Ruffled Net Curtains, $5 Pair Of Very Fine Net

Sixth Floor, North.

August Sale of Blankets

Remarkable values are presented in this August Sale. Prices are uncommonly moderate for the excellent quality of the blankets.

1,500 Pairs All-Wool Blankets At $9.95 Pair

In 4-inch block patterns in blue, pink, gray and tan, finished with 3-inch soisette binding, double-bed size, 70 x 80 inches. $9.95 pair.

All wool crib blankets, $6.50 a pair, in white with pink or blue borders, 36 x 54 inches in size.

Seventh Floor, South.

August Sales

This season it is possible to present in the August Sales fine merchandise of an established standard of quality at prices lower than in many a season foregone. Plans and preparations, carefully made and carried to a successful completion, make possible values of worth throughout—

The August Sale of Fine Furs
The August Sale of High-grade Shoes
The August Sale of Furniture

The August Sale of Furs

Launches the New Fur Fashions and Presents Them At Prices of Distinct Advantage

A sale which is really a revue of all that is best of the new fur modes. Complete assortments, ranging from the luxurious to the most practical, successfully meet every requirement.

The unalterable standard of quality maintained here is evidenced in every garment. So that the selection of furs, at this August Sale, brings the utmost return in service and fashion, and accomplishes substantial savings as well.

New Combinations of Furs Are Noted
And an Entirely New Departure in Line
Unusual Latitude Is Evident as to Length
Rich Linings Are a Feature in Themselves

Such elegance as is in wraps of caracul, mink, moleskin, Hudson seal (dyed muskrat) and the new American broadtail (South American lamb) has not been noted in many seasons. Fashion details reflect the favored themes of the mode—tuxedo collars—lowered waist line—wide flaring sleeves.

Coats for utility wear of raccoon, Japanese mink, Australian opossum, black rat and beaver take swinging "sports" lines, and are unusual in the variety and smartness of collars and skillful use of contrasting furs for trimmings.

Sports or Utility Coats From $100 to $600.
Wraps of Finer Furs From $300 to $2,000.

Fourth Floor, North.

The August Sale of Towels

Every Desired Kind Much Underpriced

This is the time of year when the replenishing of the linen closet can be accomplished with the best sort of economy. Here's every kind of towel in all the required sizes and at prices which make plentiful choice worth while.

3,600 Hemmed and Hemstitched All- linen Huck Towels, 50c Each

Exceptional values are found in these towels. Soft and smooth in weave, in 18 x 34-inch size. 50c each.

150 dozens of "Dew Bleached" all linen huck towels with hemstitched ends, size 19 x 33 inches, at 85c and $1 each.

600 dozens of hemmed cotton huck towels for country homes, hotels and hospitals, $2, $2.25, $2.50, $3 dozen.

12,000 Bath Towels, 25c and 40c Each

These are all-white bath towels, hemmed, and of terry cloth of heavy weight. Each towel is of liberal size. Pricing is unusually low at 25c and 40c each.

All linen damask table cloths—just 250 in the group—slightly soiled and mused, in sizes 2 x 2 yards to 2 1/2 to 4 yards, radically reduced.

Second Floor, North.

Values Not Noted in Many Months in This August Sale of Rugs

Varied assortments of rugs carefully assembled are in this August Sale, priced so that choice now is a matter of real economy. Indicative of the special pricing throughout:

Anatolian Mats Priced at $7.75 and $9.75

These very attractive rugs from Asia Minor may be had in rich, lustrous colorings. They average in size 1 1/2 feet by 2 1/2 feet and are priced as follows: 100 mats at $7.75 each. 50 mats at $9.75 each.

Mosul Rugs in the Sale, $37.50 and $47.50

Two excellent groups in these rugs, which are heavily woven and remarkably beautiful in coloring. 75 rugs, averaging in size 3 x 5 1/2 feet, $37.50. 100 rugs, averaging in size 3 1/4 x 6 feet, $47.50.

Beloochistan rugs in rich blues, tans, rose and mellow ivory tones, averaging in size 3 x 5 1/2 feet, are also in the August Sale low priced at $37.50.

Chinese Rugs (9 x 12-Ft. Size) Are $245

For this August Sale a very special group of our own imported Chinese carpets has been radically reduced. In the Mongolian blues, rose and gold shades, made of the long strand Mongolian wools, dyed with the native dyes.

6 x 9-ft. size, $120—8 x 10-ft. size, $170—9 x 12-ft. size, $245

An Unusual Purchase of Domestic Rugs

These are Beauvais Axminster rugs from the Stephen Sanford & Son mills. They are slightly imperfect in weave, but in no way impaired as to service. In figure designs or in plain colors with band borders, priced as follows:

In the size 27 x 54 ins., $ 4.00 In the size 7 1/2 x 9 ft., $31.50
In the size 36 x 70 ins., 6.75 In the size 8 3/4 x 10 1/2 ft., 41.50
In the size 6 x 9 ft. at 24.25 In the size 9 x 12 ft. at 45.00

Seventh Floor, North.

Silk Negligees So Charming Are Seldom Found at $6.95 and $10.75

No matter what one's summer plans, such negligees are almost indispensable.

They are delightfully cool. They take up little room when traveling. The styles are lovely. Indeed, the pricings, unusual as they are, become doubly so when one sees the negligees themselves.

Crepe de Chine Negligees, Exquisite in Color, Daintily Trimmed, $6.95

In wistaria, peach, French and Copenhagen blues, rose and black. The cascading sleeve is most graceful. Two-toned ribbons and silken rosebuds are little elegancies certain to be appreciated. Sketched at left.

Smart Straight-Line Boudoir Coats, $10.75 In a Particularly Lustrous Quality of Satin

Too much stress cannot be laid upon their quality. The colors are rich opalescent shadings, as well as all the most wanted plain colors, dark or light. Sketched at the right.

Third Floor, North.

The New in the Hats of This Fall

Told in Rich Fabric, in Sweep of Line and Garniture

None but modes from authoritative sources. Each new theme is interpreted with an artistry which makes of every hat a mode in the vogue, yet far from the usual.

Each group of hats presents a clever version of a differing phase. Here are hats with

The Dash of the Cavalier In an Upturned Brim The Spanish Grace Of Cascading Laces

The prestige of all black is attested in hats of lustrous velvet. Duvelyn is chosen for hats of colorful smartness. Everywhere one notes

Brown, From Pheasant Shade to Vivid Nasturtium

The trimmings of "small ribbons" are charming. The note of brilliance is expressed in metal embroideries and cire braids applied with telling effect, always emphasizing a new line.

An Interesting Grouping of These New Hats at $10 to $35.

Fifth Floor, South.

Our Entire Stock of Fine Furniture In the August Sale Is Greatly Reduced

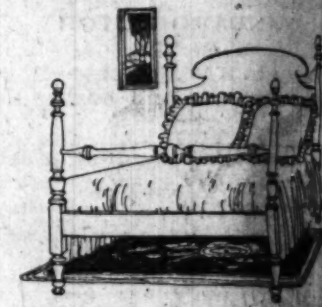

Values are decidedly unusual. For it is only furniture of the better sort that is presented in this sale—at prices so low, only actually seeing the furniture itself at the prices can convey the remarkable nature of this sale.

The following groups are merely representative of many others, all affording values equally notable.

Solid Mahogany Spinet Desk, Priced at $37.50

Measures 40 inches in length by 20 inches in width, and is fitted with a small drawer, compartments and side pockets. $37.50.

Four-Post Colonial Bed, Priced at $28

These four-post Colonial beds are in combination mahogany. They are in 4 1/2 ft. size, exceptional value. Sketched, $28.

Fireside Chair, $22.50

Or the rocker to match. In brown, mahogany finish, with cane seat and backs. A hand-carved motif is in the back panel. Sketched, $22.50.

Upholstered Wing Chair in the Sale, $37.50

Or the rocker to match. These have the seats and back upholstered and are covered in a variety of attractive materials. Either chair or rocker, $37.50.

Sewing Cabinets Priced $14.50

These Martha Washington Sewing Cabinets are in full size and in brown mahogany finish. Sketched above. Priced for this sale, $14.50.

Gateleg Table, $25

This table measures 34 inches, is fitted with a drawer and is made of combination mahogany. A table with many uses. Sketched, $25.
